FIRST NATIONAL BOARD OKAYS BUILDING PLANS

Plans for remodeling of the First National Bank of Gettysburg were approved by the board of directors of the bank Tuesday.

Final approval was given to plans submitted by the Buchart Engineering Corp., York, and the architectural firm was asked to seek bids for the work of enlarging and remodeling the 99-year-old bank.

Specifications and blueprints will be available to contractors at the Buchart office in York, it was announced. Bids for the work will be opened May 7, probably at the bank here, and the construction work will begin by June 15.

To Gain Space
Edmund W. Thomas, president of the bank, and Paul B. Fox, its trust officer, announced that the entire first floor of the bank will be remodeled, with the bank planning to occupy not only its present quarters but also the storehouse now housing the Pennsylvania State Liquor Store and Mrs. Glenn Guise's children's clothing shop.

According to the plans outlined to the board, the reconstruction will begin in the area provided by the moving of the liquor and clothing stores. When that work is completed, the banking facilities will move temporarily to the newly-finished section while the present bank area is remodeled.

With the new addition the bank will about double its space and a principal feature will be an enlargement of the lobby, which will be about five times its present size.

To Change Entrance
According to the plans the new lobby will occupy much of the space in the present bank quarters now used by the clerks and tellers. The lobby will also extend into part of the new quarters.

One door will remain temporarily in the section now used by the stores for use while the bank is temporarily housed in that portion of the building. When the entire work is completed, the final touches will be given to make the exterior of the bank in the section where the stores are now located conform with the present exterior bank walls.

While the completed bank will have its entrance at the same location of the present door into the bank, a completely new type of doorway will be placed there and the revolving door will be done away with.

WARREN WILL IS PROBATED

The will of Thad S. Warren, late of Gettysburg, who died at the Wolford Bible Nursing Home, Hamilton-Township, April 13, was entered for probate in the office of the register and recorder today. The estate consists of personal property worth $10,000 and the following real estate: a double dwelling at 224-226 W. Middle St.; a double dwelling at 236-238 W. Middle St.; a double dwelling at 240-242 Chambersburg St.; a garage at the rear of 215 W. High St. and a two and one-half-acre vacant lot, all in Gettysburg. The real estate is appraised at "more than $10,000."

The Gettysburg National Bank has applied for testamentary letters to the estate as executor.

Distributes Property
According to the terms of the will Susie B. Ketter has been willed "the right to live in the house at 242 Chambersburg St."

One thousand dollars has been bequeathed to Harry Tawney, Laura May Collingsworth and John McKenrick. Two thousand five hundred dollars has been willed to Virginia Warren Forsythe and to Shirley Warren.

Mabel Tawney will receive the double house at 342-344 W. Middle St. for life. After her death Harry Tawney is heir to the property.

Zacharias Linn has been left the house at 236-238 W. Middle St. on the condition that he pay $2,500 to the executor within six months after Warren's death. If he fails to pay the sum of money, the property shall be sold and become part of the residue estate.

GLADYS MCKENRICK and Emma Ruth Bagot will receive two of the three equal shares of the residue estate. The third share to be divided in half will go to Virginia Warren Forsythe and to Charles Warren.

The will is dated February 4, 1952.

Meeting Thursday On Town's Sesqui

The committee to complete preliminary plans for the observance of the 150th anniversary of the establishment of Gettysburg as a borough will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the engine house on E. Middle St.

Burgess William G. Weaver, general chairman of the steering committee appointed by borough council to promote the anniversary, has asked every organization in the town to have a representative present at Thursday's meeting to help make up the general committee for the event.

MISS L. L. DOCK DIES TUESDAY AT AGE OF 98

Miss Lavinia L. Dock, 98, Caledonia, Fayetteville R. 1, one of the area's distinguished citizens, died Tuesday night at 7:35 o'clock at the Chambersburg Hospital where she had been admitted as a patient several weeks ago after she had fractured her hip in a fall.

A daughter of the late Gilliard and Lavinia Lloyd (Bomhaugh) Dock, she was born in Harrisburg in 1858 and became one of the best known nurses in the world.

An editor and writer as well as an outstanding nurse, she was author of Materia Medica for Nurses and collaborated on a four-volume history of nursing, and later a one-volume history.

She assisted Clara Barton in disaster relief at Johnstown, Pa., and at Jacksonville, Fla.

Was Well Educated
Educated by governesses and in private schools, she became interested in nursing by reading an article in the old Century Magazine, and in 1886 graduated as a nurse from Bellevue Hospital in New York, where she later served as night superintendent. When the Johns Hopkins Hospital School of Nursing was established in 1873, she was named assistant superintendent and later she was for three years superintendent of nurses at the Illinois Training School for Nurses.

In 1951 when Johns Hopkins Nursing School observed an anniversary, one of the speakers, Effie J. Taylor, said in part, "We are gathered this afternoon with profound gratitude for the blessings which have been showered upon our beloved school. Founded as it was by the ablest women, at a time when the profession of nursing was in its infancy, it has never ceased to expand its growth and influence at home and abroad, and for this in (Continued on Page 5)

Weishaar Brothers Will Celebrate Tenth Anniversary With Three-Day "Store-Wide" Sale; Gifts For Ladies, Many Door Prizes

Two devoted brothers who had a yen to engage in private business but had only a smattering of knowledge of some of its phases and a bucketful of ambition and energy will celebrate their tenth anniversary this week. They are Glenn F. Weishaar and Eugene J. Weishaar, partners in Weishaar Bros., 37 Baltimore St.

In the early 1940's Glenn Weishaar wanted to purchase Marling's, a sheet metal, heating and appliance business, but he wanted his brother to join him. His brother, Eugene, was in service in Europe.

Things went amiss for awhile when it was erroneously reported that Eugene had been killed on official duty in Sicily. The grief-stricken family held a memorial requiem mass for their "lost" son and Glenn was in a quandary on his future business prospects. It was not long, however, before a decision was made for him. The Government corrected the erroneous report, like Mark Twain "the report of his death was greatly exaggerated."

Announce 3-Day Sale
Eugene returned from service in August 1945, was married in September and the following year the Weishaar brothers were in business.

BASEHORE GIVEN VOTE OF THANKS BY GOP WOMEN

A rising vote of appreciation for his long service to the Republican party was given County Chairman John H. Basehore by the Adams County Council of Republican Women at its meeting Tuesday night at the court house.

The vote came after Basehore, speaking as one of 16 candidates, observed, "This is an unusual position for me. For 16 years as county chairman I have presided, rather than speak. As I close my career in politics I appear before you as a candidate for delegate to the Republican National Convention and I am proud of the high honor that has been given me. Adams County has not had a delegate for a long time, and I am proud to be chosen as that delegate. It is a citizen's duty to vote and I hope that all here will do their utmost to get out the vote. I know you will support our great neighbor and president, Dwight Eisenhower."

"During the last 16 years as county chairman I have gotten a lot of pleasure, and a few heartaches from the position, but I guess the heartaches go with the pleasure and I want to thank all of you. I want to express my appreciation to all of the people who have worked with me and helped me in the last 16 years."

Others Speak
Oliver J. Dickey, also a candidate for delegate to the national convention from the district which is allowed two delegates, also spoke. Howard E. Coulson, Orrtanna, candidate for state assemblyman, said, "When I go to Harrisburg it (Continued on Page 3)

SANGER LAUDS LEADER AND IS "BOOED" BY GOP

A statement by Paul E. Sanger, Lebanon auctioneer, farmer and candidate for Republican nomination as U.S. Senator that "George Leader (Democratic incumbent) is the best governor Pennsylvania has had in eight years," brought boos from his audience at Tuesday night's meeting of the Adams County Council of Republican Women at the Court House.

Sanger was one of 16 candidates to appear before the women's group in a pre-primary "get acquainted with the candidates" session to which 28 candidates, ranging down from President Eisenhower had been invited.

President Eisenhower sent his thanks for "being remembered" and his regrets for his inability to be present.

Uses Duff's Time Too
A telegram from U.S. Senator James H. Duff, seeking renomination, was read stating that he was unable to be present because of a prior speaking engagement for Tuesday night, but asked that he be remembered to all "my friends in the county."

Sanger, first speaker of the 16, drew applause after a talk lasting about six minutes. He had been allotted three, but said he would also take the time of "Jim Duff, who isn't here tonight."

He received the boos for his remark concerning Governor Leader during a question and answer period later.

Praises Women's Policy

ALCOA Foundation Gives Gettysburg College $500

Gettysburg College Tuesday received a grant of $500 from the Alcoa Foundation. The check, presented personally by J. R. Dix (left above), manager of the Aluminum Company of America's Cressona, Pa., works, was accepted by the college by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, vice-chairman of the Ad Interim Administration Committee.

Six Pennsylvania colleges shared in the Alcoa Foundation grants which totaled $3,000. In addition to Gettysburg, individual grants of $500 each recently were made to Muhlenberg, Franklin and Marshall, Westminster, Grove City and Allegheny.

The grants were part of $41,000 designated by The Alcoa Foundation to aid independent colleges and universities in 15 states.

"The contributions these schools are making to higher education are highly regarded," according to Dr. O. C. McCreery, assistant secretary of the foundation. "The Alcoa Foundation realized the needs of independent colleges and is glad to support the important work they are doing."

"Since its inception in 1952 the foundation has distributed $470,000 in scholarships, fellowships, summer professorships, and special endowment. These existing programs will be supplemented by the new program of aid to independent colleges," Dr. McCreery said.

Ladies Guests Of Fairfield Lions

The Fairfield Lions Club observed Ladies' Night at a dinner Tuesday evening in the Lutheran parish house, Fairfield, with 40 members and guests in attendance. The fried chicken dinner was served by the Ladies of Zion.

Each guest received a ceramic rooster or hen filled with flowers as a favor. Maynard Stuckey, president, presided at the brief business session. Robert M. Reinhold will be chairman of the entertainment committee at the next meeting.

3 INDUCTEES TRANSFERRED

Pvt. John R. Korver, US 52401793, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Korver, New Oxford R. 2; Pvt. Robert G. Signor, US 52401789, son of Mrs. Viola B. Riley, Gettysburg R. 5, and Pvt. Harold P. Tuckey, US 52401792, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Tuckey, Ardenstville, have been transferred from Company D, Personal Center 3432 SU, Fort Jackson, S. C., to the Eighth Infantry Division, Fort Carson, Colo., for eight weeks of basic training.

While being processed at Fort Jackson, the three men achieved above average grades on army tests qualifying them to take the army officer candidate test. The mailing address for the three men will be available later.

Prior to induction Tuckey was employed by the Inland Container Corporation, Biglerville; Signor, by the Gettysburg National Bank, and Korver, by the Gettysburg Times.

EXCHANGE CLUB BUILDERS SHOW NET IS $1,700

Proceeds amounting to $1,700 from the recent Exchange Club Builders' Show will be "placed in a charity fund to be budgeted to various charitable organizations and committee projects," it was announced Tuesday night. The announcement was made by R. E. Shaffer, president of the club, at a Board of Control meeting following the weekly dinner meeting at Banker's Restaurant at 6:30 o'clock. Shaffer said, "It was probably the most successful Builders' show we have ever held."

Club members will show their appreciation to exhibitors by inviting a representative from each exhibiting firm to a dinner meeting May 22.

Ernest Simpson was elected to fill a vacancy on the Board of Control resulting from the death of H. G. Simpson, victim of a plane crash last week. Prior to the business meeting members joined in silent prayer for the deceased member.

"All I Can Do," a film on salesmanship, was presented by the program committee following the business session.

John W. Shainline, associate dean of admissions at Gettysburg College, will be the speaker at next week's meeting.

ASK STATE FOR RADIO FUNDS

The Adams County Commissioners today applied to the State Council of Civil Defense for matching funds to purchase six new radios for use in the county's Civil Defense-Firemen's radio network.

The sending-receiving sets will be installed in fire trucks at Bonneauville, Centennial, Irishtown and McSherrystown and in the care of John Murren, Hanover R. 4, county fire marshal and Civil Defense fire chief, and William G. Weaver, county Civil Defense director.

Approval of the matching funds is expected in line with similar approval given for the purchase of other similar radio sets for county fire apparatus. The radios for Bonneauville, Centennial and Irishtown are for the second trucks in each of those companies. All three have radios in one each of their present fire trucks. The radio for McSherrystown is for a new pump-purchased by that company.

The commissioners also gave approval for $2,125.63 in county aid in Reading Twp. which plans to use the money for work where needed on its roads.

ANZENGRUBER "CRITICAL"

The condition of Paul E. Anzengruber, 44, of 37 Chambersburg St., who was seriously injured in an auto accident early Saturday morning, was termed as "critical" at the Warner Hospital today.

APPLER "CRITICAL"
Jacob G. Appler, Adams County treasurer, was reported in a critical condition at the Warner Hospital today. He suffered a heart attack Monday afternoon.

GRADE SCHOOL PUPILS WILL GIVE MUSICAL

A spring musical program will be presented by the elementary grades of the Gettysburg Joint School System on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Gettysburg High School auditorium. An estimated 1,100 boys and girls from the Lincoln, Meade and Keefeauver Schools will participate under the direction of Mrs. Barbara B. Strickhouser, vocal music supervisor in the elementary schools.

There will not be any admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

The program will begin with the First graders singing a "Song Of Welcome." Following that they will present "The Boy And The Billy Goats Three," a folk story based on folk music. The boy will be acted by Lloyd Snyder, the three billy goats by Craig Bruce, Larry Miller and Philip Brown, the rabbit by Caroline Lott, the fox, Jane Hafer, and the honeybee, Virginia Glenn.

Dramatize Indian Songs
The Second graders will sing and dramatize several Indian songs and dances which include "Indian Children," "Sunrise Dance," "Grinding Corn," "Indian Warrior," "Peace Pipe Song," and close with "Indian Mother's Song." Dancers: Virginia Deardorff, Jim Pickering, Angela Teeter, Barry Snyder, Raymond Eiker, Donna Polkenroth, Robert Musselman, Brenda Liss, Donald Shelly, Cheryl Shaffer and Mary Ida Smith.

The patriotic theme will be carried out by the Third graders and they will open with "America, My Home." Following that they will sing "Yankee Doodle." There will be a marching routine presented by Robert Hartman, Ann Bucher, Sandra Williams, Billy Wirth, Anne Stahl, Rad Shultz, Ralph Bowersox, Stephen Brent, Betty Hostetter and Leslie Shainline. Several children will accompany the marchers on their song flutes. To close their part of the program the third graders will sing "You're A Grand Old Flag."

To Do Swedish Dance
An English folk song, "What Can The Matter Be?" will open the Fourth graders' part of the program. (Continued on Page 4)

4TH MEETING OF SEMINARY'S AUXILIARY HELD

The fourth annual meeting of the Auxiliary of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg was held in the Church of the Abiding Presence on Tuesday.

Fred P. Konemann presented Dr. Harry P. Baughman, seminary president, with a "substantial check" to cover the cost of the renovations at the seminary office and new draperies for the rectory.

Paul Rhoads, Harrisburg attorney and president of the United Churches of Greater Harrisburg and Dauphin County, spoke on "A Layman Looks At The Seminary." Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen acted as a moderator on a panel discussion on "Changing Emphases At The Seminary." One member of the panel was a Japanese student, Michiko Ohta, from Tokyo Christian College, Tokyo, Japan. Other members of the panel were seminarians James Leshar, William Schafer and James Hilton.

In the afternoon Dr. Abdel Ross Wentz of the seminary faculty spoke on "Whence We Came" and Dr. Gould Wickey on "Whither We're Going."

The officers elected for the coming year were: (Continued on Page 9)

Falls In Balcony And Fractures Arm

Mrs. Helen Shearer, wife of Borough Officer Paul B. Shearer, Springs Ave. Ext'd., suffered a fracture of both bones in her right upper arm in a fall Tuesday evening on the balcony of the Gettysburg High School auditorium while attending the Gettysburg Lions Club musical show.

Mrs. Shearer was descending the steps of the balcony during intermission when she fell.

She was taken to the Warner Hospital where her arm was placed in a steel frame. She will return for further treatment Friday.

Miss Grace Kelly Becomes Serene Highness Of Monaco

By PRESTON GROVER
MONTE CARLO, Monaco (P)—Serious-faced and sitting rigid as a statue, film queen Grace Kelly became the real life Princess of Monaco and bride of Prince Rainier III today. No tears were shed and no kisses were exchanged.

The brief civil ceremony, uniting the 26-year-old American film star to one of the oldest princely families of Europe and making her First Lady of this 370-acre Mediterranean principality, was televised by Europe's major networks. A religious ceremony will be performed tomorrow.

Today's ceremony consisted mainly of an exchange of "Ouis" and the signing of an official register in the presence of 81 guests. As the details were concluded, Grace relaxed and glanced at the Prince but he was staring straight ahead. Then she glanced at her sister, Mrs. George Davis of Philadelphia. In the exchange of smiles it appeared for a moment the bride was going to burst into laughter.

"I am kind of numb," she said after the ceremony.

The 32-year-old bridegroom was strained and nervous as he sat beside the blonde beauty from Philadelphia and Hollywood in the small gold and red Throne Room of the Palace of Monaco. He ran his finger under his collar, bit his fingernails and pulled his mustache. Briefly he folded his hands firmly in his lap, but a moment later was tugging again at his mustache.

Kellys and members of Rainier's ancient Grimaldi family were banded on both sides of the couple in the Throne Room, along with movie and television cameras; representatives of government; a small group of American, French and British reporters, and a few other guests.

Grace Patricia Kelly
The bride signed the official register making her a princess at 11:15 a.m., using her full name, Grace Patricia Kelly. She was a little uncertain just how the Prince signed, but said after the ceremony she thought he had written "Rainier, Prince of Monaco." His full name is Rainier (Continued on Page 6)

ESCAPEES WHO STOLE 2 CARS CAUGHT HERE

The aroused suspicions of William R. Rook, Waynesboro cab driver, led Tuesday night at 8 o'clock to the capture here and along the Littlestown Rd. of three escapees from the Oakdale, Pa. State Boys' Home who had stolen two cars, one of them in Waynesboro.

State and borough police reported that Rook, in his own car, saw an auto stop, three youths emerge and one get into another car and then both cars drive off. The actions of the boys aroused Rook's suspicions and he began to follow the two vehicles.

Soon he found himself in a race to keep up with the cars, as they headed from Waynesboro to Emmitsburg, and then toward Gettysburg, "driving through every red light and stop sign along the route."

Lost One Car
Rook lost sight of the one car when the two boys in it turned off the lights and ran off the road near here, but he kept following the other speeding vehicle, and when that car came to a halt on Chambersburg St., near the Hoagie House, Rook double parked his car to block off the vehicle and trapped the boy. He summoned police.

Officer William M. Gilbert, questioning the boy, found that the other two companions had turned out their lights and then had driven down the Littlestown Rd. and that they also were in a stolen car. State police were called and apprehended them in Mt. Joy Twp., about five miles south of here.

The three were escapees from the Boys' Home at Oakdale, police said, and were turned over to authorities from that institution by the Adams County sheriff this morning.

LONDONERS GET HANDSHAKE BY RED STATESMEN

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev arrived in London today jauntily and full of smiles and extended a hand of friendship to Britain and the rest of the world.

"We all have to live together on one planet," Bulganin told a crowd of cheering, jeering, and laughing Londoners who came to welcome the Russian leaders at Victoria railway station at the start of a 10-day official visit.

Prime Minister Eden, wreathed in smiles, stepped forward to shake hands with the Russian statesmen as they stepped from the express train which brought them from the port of Portsmouth.

Outside in the packed streets, thousands of Britons in holiday mood cheered and laughed—and booed.

Makes Welcome Speech
Eden made a brief speech of welcome under the glistening batteries of television cameras.

"In greeting, I express the hope that we shall, by our work and by our decision, improve relations between our countries and our peoples," he said.

Bulganin, beaming broadly then stepped to the microphone and replied through an interpreter: "We offer our greetings to Her Majesty's government and the British people."

"The Soviet people have a deep respect for the British people and revere their cultured and scientific achievements."

"Seeks Friendly Relations"
"The Soviet government seeks to have friendly relations with Britain, as well as the United States, France, and other countries."

"The interests of our people and the need to consolidate universal peace requires that relations between our countries be improved."

"Something has already been achieved but much still lies before us. The road is a long one and may not be an easy road to travel."

"The social and political systems in our countries are different, but provided there is reasonable understanding of the fact that we have to live together on one planet, differences in political structure should not be a hindrance to us living as good neighbors cooperating actively to improve our relations."

U.S. JOINS PACT'S ECONOMIC GROUP
TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The United States today became a member of the economic committee of the five-nation Baghdad Pact without actually signing the Alliance as a whole.

The U. S. action was viewed by some here as a means of entering the Alliance via the back door.

The development was announced after a closed session of the top-level Ministerial Council.

The Council agreed last November "membership of the economic committee may be extended to states not signatories to the pact."

This was done not only with the United States in mind, but also in the hope Jordan or other Arab countries might be willing to line up with economic aspects if not with military phases.

Until today the United States had remained on the sidelines of the organization for fear of antagonizing Egypt, Saudi Arabia and other Arab nations which bitterly oppose the Alliance.

It was formed a year ago, binding Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Turkey, and Britain in a NATO-style defense organization against possible Communist aggression in the Middle East.

15 Pastors Confer At Seminary Today

The expanding program of internship of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary brought to the campus today about 15 pastors from Pennsylvania, Maryland and New York, who will supervise the intern year of as many students.

This conference is under the general direction of the Board of Higher Christian Education of the United Lutheran Church. Dr. Gould Wickey and Dr. Vernon Strempeke represent this board. Prof. Francis Reinberger, field work director of the seminary, has set up the conference and will direct its sessions.

Students of the middle class are assigned for a year's internship in selected parishes, thus adding one year to their course. The purpose of this conference is to orient the pastors to their important tasks. The program includes devotionals by the Rev. Russell Hale, Ramsey, N. J.; discussions of the philosophy, principles and administrative procedures of the internship by Dr. Vernon Strempeke of the board of High Christian Education; panel of pastors including the Rev. Paul Reaser, York; Rev. Roland Renkel, Baltimore; and Raymond Shaheen, Silver Spring, Md.

York Springs CHURCH BURNS ITS MORTGAGE

The mortgage burning service was held Sunday afternoon in the York Springs Methodist Church at 2 o'clock. The prelude was given by Janet Bittinger and there was an anthem by the Junior Chorus "The Church in the Wildwood." The pastoral prayer was given by the Rev. Norman Bortner, York Springs Lutheran pastor and the pastor, the Rev. Amos Meyers, also spoke. The choir sang "Bless This House" as an anthem.

The mortgage burning was conducted by Donald Miller, church lay leader, and Emory Gulise, treasurer of the building fund.

Guest speaker for the occasion was the Rev. Granias Hoopert, pastor of the Millifinburg Methodist Church and a former York Springs High School student and teacher. The mortgage burning concluded an improvement program that began at the church in 1951.

SANGER LAUDS

bless the Council of Republican Women of Pennsylvania, it is the only one that is operating on the principals of the Republican party established 100 years ago. You do not slate candidates for the primaries. I am tired of the iron curtain policies of other Republican organizations.

"The Republican women give an opportunity for all Republican candidates to speak. It is in violation of the constitution when one man says Fine will be the next governor and then says Wood will be the next governor. Today there are 400,000 less registered Republicans in Pennsylvania than before. It is a proven principle that if the people have no chance to vote in the primaries they don't vote in the following election. I come to you to seek your support, and if nominated I will do all I can to give you a great victory in 1956."

"I pass on one thought, a statement that I overheard in Harrisburg, that it is doubtful if Eisenhower can carry all the political leeches to success on his coattails in Pennsylvania in November."

Boos Drown Words
At the conclusion of the program various candidates were called back to answer questions that had been written by members of the 150 person audience. Asked "if nominated do you expect the Republicans to support you?" Sanger responded: "I think Leader is the best governor in eight years." For a brief period what he was saying was drowned out by boos.

"It was not the Democrats who won the election but the Republicans who lost it," he finally said. "I am out to help the Republican party. Let me give an example of the type of thing that cost us an election. I am Republican, I ship a half ton of milk a day, yet the Republicans in control of the Milk Commission refused to let me testify before them. They said I was an auctioneer — what do I know about milk, when I'm shipping a half ton a day."

Four candidates for congress, John R. Hertzler, R. W. Smith, Ralph F. Fisher and S. Walter Stauffer, spoke. Hertzler, former deputy state secretary of commerce and head of Hertzler Enterprises, York, told the group that "The Republican party needs a rousing victory in November. I am conscious of York County's Democratic majority and my campaign has been geared to carry York County. I have sought the independent and the Democratic vote and those votes are needed to win. I believe in Americanism above Republicanism and in this I follow President Eisenhower. I am backed by no bosses."

Hertzler was asked, in the question period, about his support for Governor Leader in the gubernatorial campaign. He replied: "I'm a native of York County and I am devoted to my county. When we had a native York countian for governor, along with many other Republicans, I worked for a fellow York countian and he was named governor."

Smith Formerly Lived Here
Smith, president of Capitol Engineering Corp. York, and a resident of Gettysburg from 1919 to 1925, after recalling his residence here observed "The farm problem is the most important proposal before the American people today. The land bank is a step in the right direction. I hope Congress helps President Eisenhower help the American Farmer. If I am elected to congress I will try to help formulate a farm program that is good for the farmer and for all. I am also interested in social security and I think it can be improved."

Attorney Fisher, former district attorney of York County, said: "I was asked to run by some fine people and I said yes because I thought this is Dwight Eisenhower's home district and he is represented by a Democrat and that is not right. Eisenhower said he would stop the Korean war and he stopped it. He said he would prevent fighting in Indo-China and fighting was stopped there. He said he would contain the Communists and they have been contained. He said we could have peace and prosperity and we are having it."

Stauffer Speaks
Former Congressman Stauffer told the group: "My good friends in Adams County are good and dependable friends. I received a 1,492 majority from you when I ran last, and it has been a great pleasure to support you. A false charge has been placed against me tonight. One of my opponents (Hertzler, who afterward expressed his apologies to Stauffer) says that he feels it is dishonest advertising for me to put a picture in my advertisements showing me with President Eisenhower, claiming that it was a political picture taken in the last campaign when I was defeated. The picture was taken when I, as a congressman, was with the President on Adams County's business — I was to see him about speaking at Gettysburg. Certainly we are going to send President Eisenhower back. Governor Leader would not have had the vote he had, had not some of my opponents here tonight helped him. I am for the Republican party first, last and always."

Douglas H. Elliott, candidate for state senator and vice president of Wilson College, promised "to provide the people of Adams and Franklin Counties with an honest and efficient representation. I am salaried and thus well aware of the ups and downs of prices and their effect on my family of five. In my work I engage in handling budgets and this experience in finance will be helpful in representing you. I am in a position where I am very familiar with education from the primary through the college level, and such knowledge is needed now."

George W. Fries, Franklin County nurseryman and dairy farmer and president of the National Holstein-Friesian Registry Association, and a candidate for nomination for state senator said, "I am familiar not only with farming but with education as a school board member, during which I helped plan the building of public schools, and I have become familiar with professional people and working men. I feel I would be qualified to represent all the people of the two counties. I wish to say that I have gone as a stranger to many parts of the country, but no where have I been met with such friendliness as I have been in Adams County since I began my campaign here."

Mrs. C. H. Heldt, program chairman for the council, introduced the speakers. Mrs. Forrest Craver conducted the question session. An alarm clock, which rang at the end of three minutes was used to time the speakers.

DR. W. L. TAYLOR OF DICKINSON IS CLUB SPEAKER

Dr. William Lonsdale Taylor, chairman of the department on political science at Dickinson College, Carlisle, was the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Littlestown Rotary Club on Tuesday evening at Schott's Hotel. Dr. Taylor addressed the club concerning the United Nations, and told how he saw the coming organization of the U. N. when he served as international secretariat for the historic San Francisco conference in 1945. The speaker is widely recognized as an authority on international relations, and has written several text books and other works.

The program opened with the invocation offered by the Rev. David S. Kammerer. The International Service Committee, S. Clair Trostle, chairman, arranged the program.

The club will meet again next Tuesday at 6:15 p.m. The program will be in charge of the Rotary Snyder, chairman, and Ernest W. Dunbar.

Begin Parties May 5

The committee in charge of making arrangements for public parties to be sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Aloysius Catholic Church met on Tuesday evening in the parish hall. Pius V. Pautenis, chairman of the committee, presided. It was decided to begin the parties on Saturday, May 5, and to hold them each week at 8 p.m. in the parish hall. Members of the St. Aloysius Parish Council of Catholic Women will assist with the serving of refreshments each Saturday evening. Paul Bunty was appointed cashier. The parties will be the special project of the Holy Name Society for the benefit of the parish building fund. On Saturday, April 28, men of the society will meet to houseclean the parish hall and the women will houseclean the kitchen.

"GREATEST INSPIRATION"

It's good to hear a cheerful word . . . from those who round me dwell . . . because it never seems to fail . . . to help me ring the bell . . . encouragement from sincere friends . . . is welcome all the time . . . it gives a righteous reason . . . to life's perplexing rhyme . . . which come right from the heart . . . for they possess a power that . . . can make the blues depart . . . like flowers in the wilderness . . . so are the tender words . . . which make my waning hope ascend . . . to regions of the birds . . . but though all I have penned about . . . encouragement is true . . . by greatest inspiration comes . . . when hearing it from you.

will be in the interests of everyone and not myself. I wish to represent all of the people of the county. Francis Worley, incumbent seeking renomination for the assembly, said "in response to a question put before the meeting the state's contributions to the county have increased since I have been assemblyman."

Quotes Figures

"In the 1941 biennium the state gave $577,928.86 for the support of Adams County schools. For the last biennium it provided $2,379,769. In 1941 $117,140.20 was spent by the state on roads. In 1955 $297,983.24 was allocated to Adams County. I like the work of assemblyman. I have tried to give the county the best I can. I have devoted the best years of my life to the county and I have considerable appeal among the Democratic farm vote. If re-elected I will continue to give the best I can."

H. Earl Pitzer, former director of highway safety for the state and Aspers trucker, farmer and insurance agent, and candidate for state committee, said "I'm mighty happy to be a member of the harmony ticket. This ticket is good. I think Fred Pfeffer will make a good county chairman. When I was approached I withdrew my candidacy for county chairman to help present a harmony ticket. We should all work together for the re-election of a great leader, Dwight Eisenhower."

Others Are Presented

Frank J. Slonaker, Gettysburg, incumbent state committeeman seeking re-election, complimented the women's group observing, "Without your work, Adams County Republicans would have lost more offices."

William I. Shields, county health officer from 1939 to 1953 and candidate for county chairman, said, "The fact that you ladies are taking a very active part in the Republican party in Adams County is to be highly commended. I sincerely desire and hope for your support."

Fred G. Pfeffer, candidate for county chairman, told the group, "The only question is whether Fred G. Pfeffer will make a good county chairman. I had no intention of running for county chairman until a group came to me and asked me to run as a compromise, harmony candidate. I said I would if there was no opposition. That promise was given and believed. Then later there was opposition, but by then it was too late to stop. I had committed myself. If I am named I will work for the unity of the party. We have a good county and a good party and it can go places."

Mrs. Floranna H. Fowler, candidate for county vice chairman, was the last speaker. She expressed her thanks for the help being given her.

Various candidates for posts as committeemen were introduced.

"Changing Emphases At Seminary"

John Eppley Marks
His 77th Birthday

John Eppley, Gettysburg R. 1 blacksmith, today observed his 77th birthday by, as he put it, "loafing a little on the job."

Mr. Eppley, for many years blacksmith for the Hanover Shoe Farms during which he provided the shoes for many winning horses, has been noted as a blacksmith in Cumberland Twp. for more than a half century.

In more recent years his shop at Sedgewick, now better known as Round Top, attracted the attention of tourists and his wrought iron decorative work has been shipped throughout the country to tourists who were attracted by the shop and work and placed orders for their homes. President of the Barlow Rural Telephone line, he is also familiarly known in the area as the "mayor of Round Top," as the section's senior citizen.

CARS COLLIDE

Cars operated by Elmer A. Bubb, 68, East Berlin R. 1, and K. Belmont Metzger, 37, Dillsburg, collided in East Berlin at 3:40 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Police estimated damage at $300 to each car. No one was injured. The accident occurred south, attempted a left turn into a private driveway in the path of the northbound Metzger vehicle.

Soil Bank Plan Will Not Affect ACP Program This Year, ASC Manager Reports

The Soil Bank plan currently under discussion nationally has no direct bearing on the 1956 Agricultural Conservation Program, J. Glenn Miller, office manager of the Adams County Agriculture Conservation and Stabilization committee, said today.

Noting that "we have been reading and hearing a great deal about the Soil Bank plan as recommended by the President for enactment by Congress, some have wondered how the plan will affect the current Agricultural Conservation program."

"Actually if the soil bank plan is enacted into law it will have no direct bearing on our current program."

"The 1956 Agricultural Conservation Program was authorized by an act of Congress as passed last year and it will continue as presently set up and planned. It is our hope that the two programs will work together to bring about the greatest possible increase in the conservation of our soil and water resources. The Soil Bank Program applies to a very limited area of the farm. The vast problem of soil and water on most of the croplands and all the pasture and woodlands still must be dealt with under the Agricultural Conservation Program as far as cost-sharing is concerned."

"Even though our 1956 Agricultural Conservation Program was inaugurated back on November 1 of last year, the program is still open for enrollment. Since our funds are allocated to participating farmers, based on needs on a 'first come, first served basis,' farmers who have not enrolled are urged to do so as soon as possible. After all available funds have been allocated, it will not be possible to make any further approvals on such late enrollments. Under the 1956 program, it is not necessary to comply with acreage allotments

Information contained in the questionnaires returned from a recent survey of rehabilitative services available at present in the county will be discussed also at the meeting. Other business will include the reading of the prize winning essay in the county contest held recently, the study and referral of local applications for employment by handicapped individuals and the nomination of officers to be elected at the annual meeting in the fall.

The committee announced the availability of films for showing at club meetings. Any one interested may secure further information by calling Lawrence Cummins at the local state employment office, telephone 1258.

Bob Shawkey, former pitcher for the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics, is Dartmouth's varsity baseball coach.

on wheat, corn, etc., to be eligible for cost-sharing. Just drop in at our County Office at 146 York St. in Gettysburg to enroll and file your request for assistance needed to carry out your conservation measures."

Wool Incentive Payments

"Adams County wool growers will be interested to know what incentive payments under the Wool Program for the year which ended March 31 should average around 40 per cent of the average price growers have received for their wool. Payments are based on the average price that producers received for wool. According to a U.S. Department of Agriculture report, wool prices during the first ten months of the year averaged 44 cents per pound, grease basis. Since most of the wool eligible for 1955 payment had been sold during this ten month period, the average price for the year is not expected to be materially different when all reports are in.

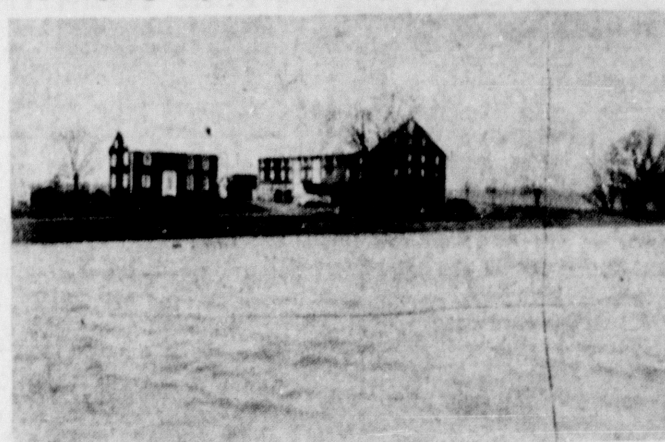

"If this average holds for a full year the individual grower may estimate his incentive payment at approximately 40 per cent of the price he received for his wool. And on this basis the payment for lambs slaughtered with wool on will be around 70 cents per hundred pounds of live weight. These estimates are based on the announced average incentive price of 62 cents per pound for wool, grease basis. Wool sold during the earlier months of the year moved at a considerably higher price than wool sold later. By mid-February the price was down to an average of 40.2 cents per pound and even that was 1.1 cents above the month earlier. May we emphasize here that the higher the price received by the grower for his wool, the greater will be the incentive payment. The payment to the individual grower will be based on the national percentage needed to bring the average return from wool to a grower to 62 cents per pound.

So it follows that the grower who sold his wool at a below-average price will receive a correspondingly smaller payment per pound of wool.

"I should like to stress that wool growers must get their applications for payment into the county office before May 1 to be sure of their payment this year. Furthermore, it is a good thing to remember that payment cannot be approved unless all the required information is submitted with the application. And one more reminder — wool growers should recall that, as a result of the vote in the referendum last August, a one-cent per-pound deduction will be made from wool payments and 5 cents per hundred pounds from land and yearling payments, in order to finance the campaign to enlarge the market for wool and lambs."

Nurses To Receive Diplomas In May: Nineteen members of the 1931 class of the nurses' training school of the York hospital will receive diplomas May 12. Those from Adams county who will receive diplomas are: Naomi Zepp, Littlestown; Annabelle Hamme, Abbottstown; and Pauline Brown, Orrtanna.

Clean Up Week For Gettysburg Is Proclaimed: Cooperating with the state departments of health, welfare, forests and waters and the bureau of fire protection, P. C. Stock, president of council, and James B. Aumen, chief of the fire company, today announced a "Clean Up Week" for Gettysburg, beginning next Monday.

Monday will be highway day when all sidewalks and streets should be cleaned, gutters cleared, ditches opened and sewers flushed. Tuesday will be Forestry day when all inflammable debris, particularly brush, branches and briars should be removed. Wednesday will be fly and mosquito day when all houses should be made flyproof and stable yards, pig pens and chicken coops cleaned; Thursday will be junk day when the accumulation of junk and trash should be collected and Friday should be finish up day. "Resolve to keep the community and your own premises cleaner than they have ever been before."

David Bolen To Meet Challenger On Local Courts: David Bolen of Gettysburg, who recently extended a public challenge to other horse-shoe pitchers of Adams county for a contest, will be given an opportunity to prove his prowess on the local courts Saturday afternoon. James Kump, Orrtanna, another outstanding horseshoe pitcher, has accepted Bolen's challenge for five 50 point games to be played here Saturday.

Jail Undergoes House Cleaning: The cellar of the Adams county jail where prisoners in cells above from time to time were wont to fish for beer and more high powered beverages today was empty as the inside of a drum as the result of a spring house cleaning Wednesday afternoon.

After loading the beer and liquor, an accumulation of two years, on two large trucks, Sheriff G. D. Morrison, two deputies and two witnesses took the stuff to the dumping grounds along the Lincoln highway east of here and proceeded to break up the containers.

Between 75 and 100 gallons of liquor, ranging in quality from moonshine to Scotch, about 75 cases of beer, some good, others indifferent, and a motley assortment of wines and other beverages were poured into the dump.

Besides the beverages sent into oblivion by the sheriff and his helpers, twelve slot machines, numerous punch boards and five stills were destroyed. Deputy Sheriffs Louis W. Wagaman and John Keller assisted Sheriff Morrison with the cleanup. W. A. Geiselman, clerk of the courts, and C. F. Palmer, clerk to the Adams county commissioners, were the witnesses.

THE MAGIC OF MEMORY

I often wonder what life would be like if we were not endowed with the magic gift of memory. From youth into old age our minds are saturated with memories. Those whom we have long known, and loved, still remain with us through this memory of ours, long after their lives have been silenced. What a train of thoughts are called to mind by that simple statement: "I remember." We helped to make it significant. Tucked into this memory of ours are vivid pictures of companions, a love of books that have greatly influenced us, and instances of natural beauty that keep coming to us again and again.

Our friends may die, but their memory remains to us for so long as we live. There is an eternity to memory. Most of our great books are made up of memories, many of them auto-biographical. What a blank outlook had we no memory of anything! What would a day mean then? We can even edit this memory by remembering only the good and inspiring, forgetting the sordid and unhappy.

I recently came in contact with an old friend whom I had not seen for years. It was a wonderful re-union. Each of us immediately took out our invisible Memory Book and had a journey into the past. The late John Buchan wrote a most interesting book while Door. It was published some twenty-five years ago. He called it "A Journal of certain experiences, not written in the experiencing moment, but rebuilt out of memory."

Memory sometimes plays a trick on us but usually it is kindly and revealing. It has its many precious aspects. We are constantly experiencing new scenes, and many of them remind us of similar scenes. Memory then becomes co-operative! J. M. Barrie, in his famous address "Courage," which he delivered at St. Andrews University, May 3rd, 1922, said this: "You remember some one said that God gave us memory so that we might have roses in December."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Faith Eternal" Projected, 1954, B. B. The George Matthew Adams Service

STYLE
In style and out the bonnets go. And what was known as "this old thing" And tossed aside too old to show. Will youthful be this coming spring.

In style, if only she can wait, Will be the bonnet out of date. She wore it once with jaunty pride: With jaunty pride again she'll wear The bonnet that was put aside—The very latest thing, she'll swear, And one just like it she will praise While on her neighbor's head it stays.

"My dear," again I hear her say Just what she said long years ago, "Your hat is beautiful and gay. Some clever milliner you must know." And hearing her I'll simply smile; That "old thing" is again in style.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sun Oil Co. reports first quarter earnings of $12,255,232, equal to $1.21 a common share.

The announcement yesterday marked the first time the company has made its quarterly earnings public. It said this year's figures compared with earnings of $11,722,108 for the first quarter of 1955, equal to $1.23 a share for nearly 600,000 less shareholders than in the first three months of 1956.

President Robert Dunlop reported a planned expansion of Sun Oil markets in Georgia and North Carolina and predicted a higher volume of business this year.

KEFAUVER IS BEATEN BY N. J. ORGANIZATION

By RELMAN MORIN

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee went down to a resounding defeat in the New Jersey primary today, the most serious setback since he opened his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

At the same time, New Jersey Republicans gave President Eisenhower a firm endorsement, although he had no opposition.

Returns from 3,645 of the state's 4,155 voting districts showed these totals in the preference sections of the ballots:

Eisenhower 287,575.

Kefauver 103,288.

Write-Ins For Adlai

In the Democratic returns, there also were 1681 write-ins for Adlai Stevenson, who was not a candidate in this primary.

For Kefauver, however, the "popularity contest" was much less serious than the battle for delegates to the nominating convention. His 72 backers — who would have 36 convention votes — were swamped by an unpledged slate headed by Gov. Robert B. Meyner.

The organization elected 63 delegates with 31½ votes, while Kefauver elected only one delegate with ½ vote. The organization led in the remaining 8 contests with 4 votes.

Ike's List Elected

On the Republican side, a 38-vote delegation pledged to the President was elected. It had taken opposition from three "conservative" and undesignated candidates.

Kefauver campaigned intensively for six days in New Jersey, making his final appearance last Sunday. But the tactics of hand-shaking and meeting people that served him so well in New Hampshire and Minnesota failed here.

His campaign manager here, Martin J. Rafferty of Newark, said however: "The senator performed a great service for the people of New Jersey. He showed great political courage by coming into the state. The people gave him a good vote. It is by no means a defeat for him. Highly organized Democratic machines in 21 counties were too much for him to overcome."

Less Than 1952

Neither Eisenhower nor Kefauver got as many preferential votes in this election as they had in 1952, but the President's percentage was better. Four years ago, after a hot fight with the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, he polled 390,391 votes — nearly half the total cast then by both parties.

Kefauver got 184,964, in 1952 when he was also unopposed. He did not contest then for convention delegates and at the convention got only three of New Jersey's votes on the first ballot.

In a battle for convention delegates this time, the senator met a clear-cut defeat. Before the election, he had predicted he would win at least 10 delegates.

"As Anticipated"

Democratic State Chairman George Brunner said early today that "results were as we anticipated. We were interested in electing a full slate of unpledged delegates because we felt th party must be interested in selecting the strongest possible Democratic candidate. We feel as a party that the Democrats will elect the next President."

Kefauver's preferential total ran ahead of the statewide votes of his strongest delegate-candidates, but he did not keep up with organization candidates. Since his was the only name on the "popularity" section of the ballot, many Democrats evidently did not cast a vote there.

Some Stevenson backers had asked support of the organization slate and a boycott of the presidential balloting.

Kefauver Cut
The extent of this "cutting" of Kefauver seemed especially apparent in Mercer and Middlesex

Illegal Voter "Changes Address"

TOMS RIVER, N.J. (AP)—A witness testified yesterday that Francis Lord, charged with illegal voting in New Jersey, listed his Drexel Hill, Pa., home as his permanent address on his auto license in 1953-55 and then changed it to Ocean Gate.

Mr. and Mrs. Lord are among about 100 persons indicted by an Ocean grand jury on charges of illegal voting in the state. They are charged with voting illegally in the resort on Barnegat Bay. The witness, Miss Johanna Dalley, supervisor of the operators files of the Motor Vehicle Department of Pennsylvania, was among seven witnesses testifying for the state.

Counties. Both are Democratic strongholds where a Democrat could be expected to run ahead of any Republican, but in this primary Eisenhower outscored Kefauver in both counties.

There was little likelihood that the vote reflected any reaction to the President's veto of the farm bill. New Jersey's farm population is not large.

Denial By Adlai
Elsewhere on the political scene, Adlai Stevenson issued a denial that he had predicted nomination at the Democratic convention on the first ballot.

Visiting the home of his sister in Southern Pines, N.C., Stevenson said a news story quoting him to that effect was "wholly inaccurate." He added however it would be "a good idea."

Stevenson travels to Washington this weekend after a round of pre-primary campaigning in Pennsylvania.

ERIE D. A. HITS PARDONS BOARD IN BRIBE CASE

KITTANNING, Pa. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Herbert Johnson of Erie County said last night that the Pennsylvania Pardons Board "apparently does not consider bribery a very serious offense."

Johnson made the statement in an address before the Kittanning Kiwanis Club in which he discussed the Erie bribery scandal of two years ago. Mayor Thomas Flatley, who pleaded guilty to bribery, was recently released from the Allegheny County Workhouse following action of the pardons board.

Johnson said there were some 36 convictions in the case, which involved members of the Erie police department. He said they received sentences ranging from probation to prison terms of 1½ to 3 years. Johnson declared that of the 36 convicted, 35—by means of commutations—did not serve their minimum sentences.

Exposure, Then Coddling
"Law enforcement is only as effective as the citizens demand," Johnson declared. "If the community does not demand effective law enforcement, then there will not be effective law enforcement."

He added: "The mere fact that conditions have been exposed which are shocking—followed by the coddling of those responsible for those conditions — is no reason to depart from our original concept of constitutional government. It is not the system that is at fault but the men who are responsible for its proper functions and, more important, the citizens who fail to raise their voice."

"Bribery of public officials strikes directly at the hall of our democracy. However, it seems quite apparent the Pennsylvania Pardons Board does not consider bribery a very serious offense."

Johnson said "what started as the disgrace of Erie now has come the dishonor of Pennsylvania by reason of the soft attitude of the pardons board. But I have confidence the people of the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and especially our senators, will not stand idly by without searching out the truth."

"A Nick And A Nock," a Swedish singing game, will be sung last with Joe Walte, Linda Bream, James McIlhenny, Kathy McCullough, Richard Bollinger, Tem Bulleit, Robert Britcher, Barbara Cool, Richard Bruce and Carol Chambers doing the Swedish dance.

The Fifth graders will sing the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "Little David" in which a quartet composed of Steve Stahle, "Chet" Shultz, Carl Sprigg and William Lutz will sing the leaders' part. Following that they will sing "Nelly Bly" and close with an American dance song "Swing on the Corner." Square dancers for this number are Jeffrey Swope, Jean Kime, Michael Miller, Diane Meredith, Carl Sprigg, Barbara Beard.

WINS $64,000 QUIZ QUESTION

NEW YORK (AP)—A free-lance jockey from California, riding a long shot named "Great Art and Artists," has won a $64,000 television quiz show purse.

Bill Pearson of Pasadena, last night became the fourth person to win the grand prize on the CBS show "The $64,000 Question."

Pearson was required to scan six reproduction of portraits by great artists, to identify them as to subject and artist, and to name one man with whom each artist studied.

The jockey, who could have quit with his previous $32,000 winnings, said before he started for the grand prize that it was an 8-to-1 gamble, figuring income tax brackets. "But sometimes those long shots pay off," he declared.

Pearson said his wife and friends had urged him to quit and not risk losing the $32,000 in exchange for an expensive auto as a consolation prize. He said he had even promised his wife he would stop, so as to relieve her nervousness. Turning to his wife in the audience, he told her: "But I lied to you. I'm going to take a chance."

Shirley Klein, 15, was reported in critical condition and Elbert O'Byle, 18, in fair condition today.

"Lovely Meadows," "Funiculi, Funicula" with solos by Barclay Collins and Peggy Boyer; "Sit Down, Sister" and "America, the Beautiful" will be sung by the Sixth graders.

The Sixth grade chorus, composed of 60 voices, will sing "Love's Messengers," by Mendelssohn, "Wake-Up Jacob," a spiritual, with solo by Winfield Jackson, "Polly Wolly Doodle," an American college song, and will close the program with "A Merry Medley" which includes the songs "I've Been Working on the Railroad," "Hear Them Bells," "Camptown Races" with solos by James Scott and Guy Weikert, and "Good Night Ladies."

Between the grades' presentations of songs the elementary band will play several selections, under the direction of Robert Zeigler, band instructor for the jointure. They will present the following numbers: "Jolly Trumpeters," "Lone Scout March," "Circus Day March," "Smooth Sailing Waltz," "Toyland Parade," "America the Beautiful," "Adantino," "Steamroller March," "Over the Waves," "NBC March," "Congo Time," "Barcarolle," "Cowboy Medley" and "Meditation."

The stage props and art work are under the direction of Richard Krick, art supervisor. Accompanists for the musicale include Mrs. Rebecca Fox, Mrs. Kathryn Pender, Mrs. Anne Stahle and Barclay Collins.

Phillies Upset Dodgers In Opener As Yanks Swamp Nats; Ted Williams On Batting Spree

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Memo to American League managers:

You can forget that defensive shift against Ted Williams. You'll either have to walk the big guy or pitch and pray.

The Thumper, who has won four American League batting titles—topped by his .406 in 1941—and has a lifetime .348 average, set the terms for the 1956 season when he made his first appearance in the Boston Red Sox' opening day lineup in four years yesterday.

Forced to miss those recent starts due either to service duties or injuries, Williams showed up as a healthy civilian for a change and banged two doubles to left and a single to center against Baltimore's shift as the Red Sox belted the Orioles 8-1.

See 4-Way Battle Now
The prescribed defense against Williams' notorious left-handed power has been to shift the shortstop and second baseman into right and crowd the outfielders around to right. Now something new is needed.

Ted, who walked his first time up, drove in a run and scored one in the 16th Boston attack, which got started with a four-run first off Bill Wright. Frank Sullivan held the Orioles in check with an eight-hitter, fanning seven.

The bat spree gave the Red Sox a running break in the predicted four-way AL pennant fight among Boston, New York, Chicago and Cleveland.

Yanks Swamp Senators
The Yankees, who have been hinting this may be Mickey Mantle's BIG year at last, swamped Washington 10-4 with the Mick swatting two 475-foot homers out of the Senators' Griffith Stadium. The White Sox got a jump on the Indians, winning 2-1 at Chicago when Cleveland ace Bob Lemon walked the clinching run home in the seventh.

Kansas City beat Detroit 2-1 on Gus Zernial's pinch two-run double.

Brooklyn Knocked Off
In the National, which fell short of the AL's 117,210 opening day crowds with an attendance of 108,887, Brooklyn's world champion Dodgers—who won their first 10 games last season, were knocked off by Philadelphia and Robin Roberts 8-6. Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock homered for Milwaukee in the Braves' 6-0 decision over the Chicago Cubs on Lew Burdette's five-hitter. Stan Musial hit a two-run homer in the ninth as St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 4-2. And Johnny Antonelli tossed a six-hitter and homered in the New York Giants' 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh.

Yogi Berra also homered for the Yankees, who got six-hit pitching from Don Larsen. Karl Olson, late of the Red Sox, homered twice for the Senators and Rookie Dick Tietelbach, former Yank farmhand, once.

Southpaw Billy Pierce, the AL's earned-run leader in '55, five-hit the Indians, giving up a homer to Jim Busby—only member of the Busby-Chico Carrasquel-for-Larry Doby trade to do anything. Doby fanned three times—once with the bases loaded.

Zernial's Blow
Sherm Lollar scored the winning run, and drove in the other for the Sox with a double.

Zernial's blow in the seventh wrecked Frank Lary's one-man show for the Tigers. Lary hit an inside-the-park homer off winner Alex Kellner for the lone Detroit run and had a three-hitter until the seventh.

Roberts, who set a major league mark by allowing 41 homers in '55, was tagged for a home run by Roy Campanella and an inside-the-park job by Junior Gilliam, but the Phils gave him the padding he needed by chasing Don three-run blast got rid of Newk in the third. Gran Hamner homered off Ed Roebuck.

Mizzell Is Winner

Musial, out for his seventh bat title, was hitless in four trips before Joe Nuxhall made his ninth-inning mistake. Vinegar Bend Mizell, pitching his first NL game since 1953 after his Army discharge, was the winner, but needed help from Ellis Kinder in the ninth.

Dale Long homered twice for the Pirates to make Antonelli work for his decision. Bob Friend, the NL's ERA leader in '55, was the loser with two New York runs unearned. Willie Mays scored the winning marker, scotting home from second on an infield out.

Burdette, despite four innings of rain and snow, was never in trouble and held the Cubs to one hit in the last six frames.

100 ALABAMA ATHLETES ON STRIKE TODAY

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (P)—About 100 University of Alabama athletes struck last night for better rules and regulations, and threatened to leave the school if their demands are not met.

They said they moved out of the university's athletic dormitory because they "were being treated like children."

The exodus took place after a committee headed by Dan Coyle, former football end, told athletic director Hank Crisp "the rules are too strict."

Crisp promised to meet with them Thursday.

Coyle, a former end who did not report for spring practice, said, "We are tired of being treated like children. They have a coach that puts us to bed at 11 p.m. They have a coach that comes around and wakes us at 8 a.m. whether we have classes or not. We have to get signed slips from them to go home, and have to let them know when we are coming back."

CHICAGO — Julius McCoy paced the College All-Stars with 20 points in a 70-68 victory over the Harlem Globetrotters in their basketball tour.

KINGSTON, S. C. — Willie Mosconi, Haddonfield, N. J., won all 14 of his matches in a successful defense of his world's pocket billiards title.

PHILADELPHIA — Tom Gola, LaSalle All-America and Philadelphia Warrior star rookie in the National Basketball Assn. was inducted into the Army.

NEW YORK — Rare Treat ($5.70) overtook Bless Pat in the stretch to capture the Lymbrook purse at Jamaica.

BOWIE, Md. — Dr. Eugene J. ($12.60) scored a 2½ length victory in the $7,500-added Bowie Breeders' stakes, the closing day feature.

DOGS

by Farley Manning

DOGS AROUND THE WORLD
In Charlottesville, Va., a lady presented a neighbor's children with a puppy to replace the one they had lost. She selected it from among many at the SPCA shelter because she thought it looked much like the one that had gone astray several weeks earlier—and found that it was.

In California, two pups were literally rolling in dough when they were taken off a cargo plane. The money, in the form of an envelope of checks, was being transported from a bank in El Centro to one in Los Angeles when it fell into a crate containing the dogs. By the time the plane landed, the pups had chewed up the checks and used the scraps for bedding—literally rolling in the dough.

In Phoenix, Arizona, a boxer puppy has an operation to tell about that should hold the local canine bridge for a while. She is recovering after swallowing a toy rake handle 20 inches long. The veterinarian who removed it may not recover as quickly as the dog.

In Japan, dogs do just the same remarkable things they do in the United States and everywhere else in the world. Latest report is of a dog that was shipped 93 miles to his master's new home. The owner took a later train and found the dog missing when he arrived. Twelve days later the dog showed up at the old home and had to be shipped again to the new one.

Races Sunday At Williams Grove

WILLIAMS GROVE, Pa. — Roy Richwine's famous Williams Grove Speedway will become the first track in the East to present a big car auto race under sanction of the newly-formed United States Auto Club, successor to AAA in auto racing, this coming Sunday afternoon.

The is every indication that the seven-event inaugural USAC race in the East will be one of the most interesting in history since it is expected to bring together a large field which will include several veterans of the Indianapolis Classic, most of the top drivers who campaigned on the Eastern circuit in AAA's last year and some new faces attracted by the infant sanctioning body.

The USAC program of events also differs from the usual AAA card in that another event has been added — a 10-lap heat race open only to cars with engines that have blocks of stock origin such as Cadillac, Dodge, Mercury and Ford.

Joe Holup of George Washington University, led the nation in collegiate basketball rebounds with 604 last season.

Maryland Racing Shifts To Laurel

LAUREL, Md. (P)—Maryland racing, which suffered a slight slump at the betting windows at Bowie, shifted to Laurel today for the second phase of the state's 1956 spring season.

Bowie closed out its 33-day meet yesterday with a total mutuel play of $32,352,116, or an average of $980,367 per day. For a meeting of similar length last spring, the betting totaled $33,577,338 for a daily average of $1,017,495.

no small way its graduates pay tribute to Lavinia L. Dock, one of the first members of its brilliant faculty.

"Of that group of illustrious women, only Miss Dock remains. Miss Dock was a graduate of the Training School for Nurses attached to Bellevue Hospital. Established in 1873, Johns Hopkins was the first school of nursing in the Nightingale plan in this country. Since Isabel Hampton (founder of the Johns Hopkins nursing school) was herself a graduate of Bellevue, it was seemingly that when she came to Johns Hopkins Hospital to found a progressive school of nursing she should choose Lavinia Dock as her assistant and instructor. It was during Miss Dock's night duty service in Bellevue that she wrote her book on Materia Medica and it is obvious in choosing to write a book on Materia Medica that she was endowed with a technical and scientific mind of great detail and precision. It is therefore our privilege to pay tribute to her with gratitude and affection."

She was associated with many nursing movements. She was one of the pioneers in establishing The American Society of Superintendents of Training Schools for Nurses, The Associated Alumnae and the International Council of Nurses, which she served as secretary from its organization until 1925, resigning at the congress held in Helsinki that year, after serving 25 years.

In the tribute paid her in 1951 at Johns Hopkins it was pointed out, "When the International Council of Nurses convened for its congress in Atlantic City in 1947, Miss Dock was present and was the most sought out member of the council. Even the youngest graduates attending the congress visited with each other to get her autograph on programs and it was interesting to see the procession which followed her Boardwalk chair, seeking to snap her photograph whenever for any reason she was forced to stop."

She was also active on work for woman's suffrage and was one of a large number of women who marched from New York City to Albany to petition the legislature to grant the vote to women. She was also one of the few American women imprisoned for militant suffragism.

She was visiting nurse at the Henry Street Settlement in New York for many years. In 1895 at the request of A. P. L. Dull of Harrisburg she set up the rules for visiting nurses in Harrisburg and most of those same rules are still followed today.

Surviving are a sister, Miss Emily Gillard Dock, at home; two nephews and three great-nephews. Private services will be held at the late home near Caledonia at the convenience of the family with the Rev. Canon Arthur G. W. Pfaffko, Blue Ridge Summit, officiating, assisted by Rev. Benjamin V. Lavey, pastor of Chambersburg Trinity Episcopal Church. Her remains will be cremated and later interred in the Dock family plot in the Harrisburg Cemetery. Arrangements are being made through Bender Funeral Home.

Crowds were lined up 100 yards deep behind barriers inside Victoria railroad station.

Prime Minister Eden met the Kremlin's leaders inside a tight security screen, while thousands of curious Londoners in almost carnival mood packed the surrounding streets.

A great roar of cheering rolled around the glass-roofed station as Bulgannin and his partner stepped from the express which brought them from Portsmouth.

Bulgannin was the first out of the train — hand outstretched to greet Eden on the carpeted platform.

Seek Better Relations
The two government chiefs smiled and exchanged greetings for a moment before Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd stepped forward to shake Bulgannin's hand.

The two British officials then greeted Khrushchev.

Speaking over an amplifying system, Eden told the visitors and the crowds assembled in the station:

"This is the first time the Soviet leaders have visited this country and I hope it will improve relations between our countries and our peoples."

Rev. Knechel Talks About "Golden Rule"

The weekly meeting of the Gettysburg Kiwanis Club was held Tuesday evening at the Dutch Cupboard with 14 members present.

In observance of Golden Rule Week, Rev. Robert Knechel gave a talk on how the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," has been carried down through the ages. He pointed out that the teaching of the Golden Rule dates back before the birth of Christ. Rev. Knechel pointed out that if this rule were practiced throughout the world "we would need have no fear of conflict and peace and understanding would prevail instead of turmoil."

Following the program a short business meeting was held. The club decided to participate in an interclub meeting of the local service clubs on April 30 at the Moose Home in observance of Mental Health Week.

Ike Puts Show On The Road

This sequence shows how President Eisenhower got the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees off to the start of the long baseball season in Washington Tuesday. The action came before start of the game in Griffith Stadium. With managers Chuck Dressen, left, and Casey Stengel flanking him and apparently admiring his form, Ike winds up and lets it fly. The Yankees won the opener, 10-4.

Eddie Spence was the big gun for Fairfield in the 8-1 triumph over invading East Berlin. Spence had a perfect day at bat with three singles, stole three bases, and yielded but four hits while striking out 16. His mound opponent, Harold Altland, gave up only six safeties but walked an even dozen. Four runs in the last of the second clinched the win for Fairfield who now has an overall record of 3-1.

Boiling Springs broke a 3-3 tie by pounding over four runs in the top of the seventh inning to defeat Littletown 7-4. Wise led the hitting attack for the Bubblyers with three singles. Seven Bolt hitters each secured a hit. Al Snyder's being good for two bases. Littletown is now 3-2 for the entire season.

County Agent Urges Records, Careful Culling To Increase Efficiency Of Dairy Cattle

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

Are your cows bogged down? Are they producing at the "ceiling" of their inherited ability to yield milk or are they coasting along at about half speed? In this day of increased efficiency, don't overlook the dairy cow.

The foundation of any dairy herd is the inherited ability to produce milk; yet if cows are not properly fed and managed, the true level of production ability will remain a secret. Breeding is the limiting factor in production. Feeding and management allow the cow to show what her breeding is worth.

Well-bred, well-grown heifers of today are the milking cows of tomorrow. Careful choice of outstanding bulls to sire herd replacements with high producing ability is necessary. Proper feeding and management to get maximum growth on these heifers is critical for top production later. The "ceiling" means a maximum of growth and ruggedness to go along with the high production per cow necessary today.

The dairy cow of today is a production unit and if she does not perform she must be removed from the production line. Milking ability is a matter of record and records must be kept to maintain a herd at peak performance. Milk and butterfat production, breedings, calving, disease, and general herd health are the keys to successful culling. Selection of replacements from outstanding dams are also keys to successful culling. Selection of replacements from outstanding dams are also based upon these facts of performance. Complete records mean complete knowledge of the business.

"Ceiling production" is reached by good feeding practices, regularity in milking, gentle handling, and comfortable housing of the dairy cow. She must have every opportunity to hit the ceiling of her producing ability.

Control Sheep Keds On Lambs
Sheep ticks or keds, as they are sometimes known, are the most common external parasites on sheep in Pennsylvania. The insects are most generally noticed around shearing time but are present on infested flocks throughout the year.

Soon after lambing the ticks will move from infested ewes to the young lambs. The ked is reddish-brown to gray and about one-quarter inch long. Wings are never present. The parasite is actually a wingless fly.

The eggs are not laid but are retained in the body of the female until the maggot is full grown. The maggots are deposited in the wool a few hours before they pupate.

To prevent a heavy build-up of ticks on young lambs, the lambs should be dusted with DDT or rotenone dust. Rub the dust into the fleece, using about one ounce of dust per lamb.

After shearing, the entire flock should be treated. Several days should be allowed after shearing for the wounds to heal before dipping or spraying.

When spraying, hold the nozzle close to the fleece and apply about two quarts of spray per animal.

Termites Can Be Checked

Large numbers of winged insects "swarming" from wood or cracks in your house at this time of year may indicate a termite colony. Even when no adults are observed, the presence of discarded wings is a sign of nearby colony. Look for wings on the floor beneath window or doors, where termites have emerged and have been unable to escape.

Most termite infestations in buildings occur where wood is in contact with the ground, particularly at porches, steps, basement windows, or low foundation. Occasionally wood in contact with soil in basements, such as posts or stair carriages, even if embedded in concrete, allow termites to enter the house. Cracks in basement masonry or other below-grade openings made for pipes or conduits may serve as entrances.

The best time to provide protection against termites is during the planning and construction of a building, but you can check an infestation in a house by proper application of chemicals toxic to them. Basically, you can apply chemicals to set up a barrier between the termite colony in the ground and the building to be protected. Termites in a building at time of treatment cannot establish a new colony and will soon die.

You can dig a trench along the foundation and treat the soil as it is replaced. Or bar holes can be made at frequent intervals 30 or more inches deep into which chemicals are poured. These bar holes are more effective with fumigating-type chemicals, such as pentachlorophenol, orthodichlorobenzene, or trichlorobenzene. Concrete slabs or walks along buildings are favored places for colonies. If chemicals cannot be applied under them from the side, holes should be bored and treatment made with a fumigant.

AGED GOP PASSES

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Evans Harvey, 85, prominent Delaware County Republican leader, died yesterday at his home at Brandywine Summit in nearby Birmingham Twp.

Harvey was a member of the Delaware County board of revision and assessment of taxes.

Miss Kelly

Louis Henri Maxence Bertrand Grimaldi.

The week-long wedding celebration which has drawn thousands to this Riviera pleasure spot will conclude tomorrow with a religious ceremony in Monaco's Roman Catholic Cathedral. Actually the couple are married now according to French and Monacan law, but for the Catholic Church they will not be wed "in the eyes of God" until the church rites.

On Honeymoon Cruise
Later tomorrow the couple will sail on the Prince's yacht for a Mediterranean honeymoon cruise.

The civil ceremony was conducted in French by Marcel Portanier, Monacan minister of justice, in the glare of lights for the grinding cameras. In faint but distinct voices, Grace and the Prince answered "oui" as Portanier asked each in turn if they took the other as a mate.

There was no special reason why both civil and religious ceremonies could not have been held the same day, as they often are, but this marriage is a great event for Monaco and Monacans are living it up. By a 1918 treaty, Monaco would become French and Monacans subject to French taxes and the French draft if Rainier died without issue.

"They Are Half Way"
"They are half way," said John B. Kelly, father of the bride, after today's ceremony.

"The events of the last three months have been much of a surprise in our lives," said Mrs. Kelly, mother of the bride. "There was no kiss at this ceremony," a reporter remarked to the bride in the private apartment to which she and the Prince retired to receive their guests' good wishes.

"It is seldom done," she replied, referring to the civil marriage, then added, "often not in Catholic marriages either."

"Is there to be a kiss tomorrow?"

"I doubt it," she said.

Delighted And Happy
The new Princess looked delighted and happy, but certainly a little dazed. She took a glass of champagne with three American reporters who were invited to the private apartment afterward. They wished her happiness. She smiled and replied and Prince Rainier came up and was also toasted.

After a round of champagne in the little apartment on the ground floor of the palace overlooking the Mediterranean, the bride couple came out on the balcony to be cheered by about 2,000 tourists and Monacans gathered in the plaza.

Both the Prince and Grace waved and smiled repeatedly to the cheering throng.

Just as they stepped out on the balcony, the sun came out for the first time today. Before the sky had been gray and clouded, threatening rain.

Rose Beige Silk Suit

Grace was dressed in a rose beige silk suit, on which silk lace designs had been stitched. It had a fitted jacket, and a bell-shaped skirt dropping below the knee to a point 14 inches from the floor. Her tiny cloche hat was of pleated organdy, exposing her blond hair both fore and aft. On the right side was a tiny cluster of flowers and green leaves.

Rainier and all the other men at the ceremony except members of the clergy were in formal morning outwair and striped trousers.

Tall and calmly regal, Grace had entered first, following two officials in tailcoats and medals. Then came her family, and then the Prince and his family.

The couple took seats on red upholstered Louis XV chairs facing Portanier. Both stared straight ahead as the formal ceremony was read, the same in Monaco as it is in France in all essential details. Each winds up with the same question.

Grace Replies First

Grace was the first to reply "Oui" in a low voice when asked if she took the Prince to be her husband. Then Portanier turned to Rainier with the question, the Prince replying with an even lower "Oui."

Portanier then picked up the huge book of marriage registration. He took it first to the Prince, who signed with a fountain pen and a flourish. Then the book went to Grace, who fixed a dainty, feminine signature.

As the two families came forward to sign the register, Grace looked at Rainier for the first time during the ceremony. He was looking elsewhere. Then she looked at her sister, Mrs. George Davis of Philadelphia, who smiled back. For an instant, it appeared the bride's broad smile at her sister was going to get out of control and become a laugh.

The first witness to sign was the Prince's father, Prince Pierre de Monaco, then his mother, Princess Charlotte. Next was Grace's father, John B. Kelly, the Philadelphia bricklayer who rose to fortune and to see his daughter married in a palace. Other members of the two families followed them.

"A Nice Guy"
Finally, after the witnesses had all signed, the bride pair rose to lead the guests down a hall lined with busts of past rulers of Monaco. Photographers came in to snap the party, and then Rainier for the first time relaxed as he and his bride started the procession.

Eighty-one guests were crowded into the room, all seated on thin-legged gilded chairs. But only a brief dozen followed into the private apartment where the bridesmaids began at once to compliment the new princess.

To one of her bridesmaids, Grace remarked:

"I am half way married now," echoing her father's comment.

To Kelly it was a great day, but he was not overwhelmed.

"What do you think of your new son-in-law?" he was asked.

"He seems to be a nice boy," he replied. "If he is half as nice as the other two we have, he will be all right."

"What do you call him?"

"We call him Ray."

"Does this marriage give you any titles?"

"I don't think so," Kelly replied. "I want only to be the Padre of the Falls of Schuykill. That's where I did all my rowing." The Falls of Schuykill are just outside Philadelphia.

After the Prince and Princess sail away on their honeymoon tomorrow, the senior Kellys leave for Paris, and will start home next week. The junior Kellys, Jack and wife, will fly to Spain for a few days, then home.

Asked when he expected to see his daughter again, the senior Kelly said, "Not for quite a long time, I suppose. I think she is coming to the States next fall."

For the Prince and the Princess, the marriage ceremony was only a part of the work of the day. A lunch for the diplomatic delegations to the wedding followed the ceremony.

In the afternoon the people of Monaco were welcomed to a garden reception at the palace.

Tonight the couple were to go to a gala in the Opera House sheltered in the casino. The program includes a series of ballet numbers by the London Festival Ballet and the Paris Opera companies. Its high point is a boogie-woogie type of ballet expressing a youthful welcome to Princess Grace of Monaco.

Ceremony Is Televised
The whole ceremony had been televised by Radio Monte Carlo, to which had been linked the major television networks of Europe. Altogether there were seven cameras, providing coverage for the newsreels, for the color film of the marriage being made (by MGM) for the Prince, and for the television services, including one especially for America.

In contrast to yesterday's brilliant sunshine, the skies were a dull gray for the first of the two wedding ceremonies. But a Mediterranean breeze fanned the bright pennants.

Two French jet aircraft swept in over the palace just after the ceremony. Scattered through the crowd in the plaza were sailors from warships of the United States, France, Britain and Italy, visiting the tiny port for the festivities.

DOUGLAS H. ELLIOTT

Candidate for Nomination to the STATE SENATE
(From the 32nd District)

FELLOW REPUBLICANS:

With less than one week removed from Primary Election Day—Tuesday, April 24th—I respectfully submit my qualifications to represent you in the office of State Senator. Please consider this presentation in these columns of your newspaper a personal visit with you, a personal solicitation of your good interest in my candidacy and my personal appreciation and profound thanks for your support and vote.

And, now, about my service record in my community!

Chairman of the Blood Program and the Executive Committee of the Franklin County Chapter, American Red Cross • Teacher of senior high Sunday School class and an elder of my Church • Chairman of Brotherhood Week • Chairman of publicity committee of the Chambersburg Community Chest • Assistant Scoutmaster and presently Conococheague District Vice Chairman of the Boy Scouts • Member of public relations committee for the YMCA building fund campaign of 1954 • Chairman of the Franklin County Easter Seal campaign • Vice President of the Cumberland Valley Symphony • Chairman of public relations committee of the Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce.

I am a Navy veteran of World War II. I am the father of three children and I attended public and private schools and a State University. It is my purpose as your State Senator to render honest, efficient, able and impartial public service; to maintain by diligence and renewed dedication the principles of the Republican Party. With my business experience and a record of personal performance in the public interest, I confidently believe that I can provide the honorable representation you expect of your State Senator; and, furthermore, that I can assist in arousing enthusiastic interest in the Republican Party among the young and independent voters.

Most earnestly I ask for your support of my candidacy.
Cordially yours,
DOUGLAS H. ELLIOTT

EAST BERLIN HI FINDS STUDENTS SUMMER WORK

East Berlin High School, started in the business by the manpower shortages of World War II, is still probably the only school in the state with a completely organized, supervised, student work program.

The youngsters, on a volunteer basis, work in the orchards and on farms in the summer, and have found the effort quite profitable. A number of students have reported savings of more than $1,000 for the four summer's work while they were in high school.

Elmer Gruver supervising principal of the Conewago Joint School system who inaugurated the program during the war years reports that students whose savings went into the $1,000 mark or beyond "did not stint themselves in spending money during the four years either, the $1,000 was but a portion of their earnings."

According to the state department of Public Instruction, East Berlin was the only school in the state which carried on such a completely organized program during the war. Mr. Gruver headed the group during the four war years, and since 1946 Mrs. Gruver has supervised about 40 to 50 students each year in thinning and picking peaches around York and Arendtsville, and during the same time supervised students have been picking beans "by the ton," mostly in the York County area around East Berlin.

The records for the war years show the students in 1942 picked 198 tons of cherries for John Luca-baugh, Spence Snyder, and A. B. C. Williams and 63,000 bushels of apples for H. M. Weigle and John Luca-baugh.

In 1943 they harvested 225 tons of cherries for S. M. Bollinger and A. B. C. Williams and 48,000 bushels of apples for Mr. Weigle and Mr. Luca-baugh.

Then in 1944 they picked 42,000 bushels of apples for Mr. Weigle and Mr. Luca-baugh, 195 tons of cherries for Mrs. Ed Remig and "thousands of bushels of peaches" for Mrs. Remig. In 1945 and 1946 the group picked 198 tons of cherries for Mrs. Remig and again thousands of bushels of peaches for both Mrs. Remig and Mrs. W. Weigle.

Supervising principal Gruver says the supervised work program has "paid off" for both the students and the farmers. "The students themselves earn more, because for some reason or another the youngsters stick to their work better when they are properly supervised. And the supervisor can help set up the work so that the students can do a better job. At the same time the farmer gets his work done better and more quickly."

The summer work has helped a number of the students gain college educations. With others it has provided a "nest egg" available at the end of their school studies.

FAVOR FIELD TRIPS

Fairfield school authorities feel that field trips are beneficial to the pupils. During the past year, trips were taken to the State Farm Show in Harrisburg, the South Mountain Fair, the Doubleday Book Co., Hanover; the Industrial Show in Harrisburg; and the U. S. Navy Band Concert at Arendtsville. The agriculture classes conducted many local field trips.

STUDENTS HAVE GIVEN $15,000 AT EAST BERLIN

Students at East Berlin High School have given more than $15,000 towards the school since it became a four-year institution in 1937, and authorities credit the generosity of the pupils with helping the school maintain one of the lowest tuition rates in the state.

The amounts donated are almost staggering, considering the size of the school during its earlier years and that all sums were earned through magazine sales, dramatic productions and even bean-picking. The money earned by students through orchard work was not included in the amounts given to the school. That went into the pockets of the youngsters themselves and to a large extent went toward further education for the youths.

The items bought by the students, as donations to the school include more than $3,000 worth of musical instruments; 70 caps and gowns used by the graduating class and such items as:

A $650 mimeograph with automatic feed, given in 1937; an opaque projector costing $350 a Victor sound projector also costing $350 and a film strip-slide projector costing $45 donated in 1939; Cyclorama curtains, doors, windows, a fireplace and French doors for the stage, costing more than $1,000 donated in 1944; 180 large steel lockers purchased for $540 in 1945; a $350 electric timer and score board; a $450 Wurlitzer studio piano donated in 1951; $600 bleachers sections for the gymnasium and 175 wooden folding chairs costing $900 in 1952; a velour stage curtain costing $520, and $816 for blacktopping the parking area, donated in 1954. This year the students are donating to the school $1,150 worth of cyclorama curtains, a track, window drapes and window shades for the auditorium.

East Berlin officials, expressing their appreciation to the students, claim that the donations probably are the largest made by any students in any school of comparable size.

Americans ate a record average of 81 pounds of beef each in 1955. U. S. farmers used 16 billion gallons of crude oil in 1955.

Democrats Forsake Hope Of Senate-House Agreement On Legislative Sessions

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House Democratic leadership today abandoned all but a slim ray of hope for Senate-House agreement this year on the question of annual sessions of the Legislature.

Failure of a joint conference committee to reach a compromise would mean that voters most likely will be prevented from expressing their opinion on the proposal at the November election.

"There is very little chance of reaching an agreement unless the Senate Republicans give in or unless we do—and there's less chance of the latter," said House Democratic Leader Readinger, a member of the joint committee.

No Agreements
"We just haven't been able to reach agreement on anything at all," he added. "At the minute, as far as I can see, the outlook for any sort of a solution is not good at all."

But Readinger refused to give up all hope. He said the committee will meet again May 1 for another attempt at untangling the disagreement between Senate Republicans on one side and House Democrats and Republicans on the other side.

The Democratic leader said he was ready to scrap all chances of the question appearing on the ballot unless the Senate gave in to the House viewpoint.

Dislikes Amendment Question
"I'd rather not have an amendment question on the ballot at all than have theirs on it," he declared.

The crux of the disagreement lies in limitations the Senate would place on the annual sessions.

In 1953 both houses approved a proposed constitutional amendment calling for yearly meetings of the General Assembly. During the odd numbered years it would consider financial matters. During even numbered years general legislation would be enacted.

Approve Proposals
Both houses have approved annual sessions proposals during this session. The House version is identical to the one approved in 1953. But the Senate version differs, which means that it would have to pass another Legislature before it could be placed before the voters.

If the House plan is accepted it could be placed upon the November ballot and if approved by the voters annual sessions would become effective in 1958.

The once-approved House plan would permit the governor to designate specific subjects in addition to taxes and appropriations that could be considered. The Senate version would not. In addition the Senate wants to limit the odd numbered year session to 60 days.

"We have reached the point where we should be able to have a session equal in scope to adequately run the state's business," Readinger stated, adding:

"Too Much Limitation"
"It simply should be annual sessions dealing with any subject at all for greater efficiency. There is too much limitation on the subjects."

Rep. Wood (R-Lancaster), co-sponsor of the House bill and of the 1953 proposal, has sided with the Democrats in urging the Senate to make a vote possible this year.

In another development, Rep. Johnson, assistant GOP floor leader, said western Pennsylvania Republicans are principally responsible for including the stamp plan in the sales tax law.

He told the House yesterday that it would be up to the GOP caucus to decide whether the stamp system will take effect July 1.

Sold On Plan
"Some Republican members from western Pennsylvania who were familiar with the Ohio experience were completely sold on the plan because of its self-policing and redemption features," Johnson said.

Readinger attacked the stamp plan as costly and unnecessary. Under the plan, retailers will issue stamps as evidence of tax payment.

"If it (the stamp plan) remains in the law, it is because of the Republicans that it is there," said Readinger.

Meanwhile, the Senate readied final approval of a House-passed 20 million dollar stopgap appropriation for general operations of the state government.

Both the House and Senate made plans to recess until April 30. Next week is the primary election.

No other truck can offer you as much as a new 1956 GMC

LOOK AT the facts—no matter what kind of truck you need.

GMC's new light-duty power plants have as much as 16.2% greater displacement than the nearest competition. H.P.'s been upped as much as 20%. V8's are the latest in short-stroke design.

In the new half-tonners, a brand-new fast-ratio cruising axle gives you all the efficiencies of overdrive. And it's an option at a fraction of overdrive's usual price.

A new ride stabilizer gives Blue Chip light-duties remarkable new riding comfort. No need to fight the steering-wheel—even on the poorest roads.

All GMC's now have a 12-volt electrical system. Tubeless tires are standard equipment. And a new boulevard styling makes a GMC far and away the best advertisement you can run.

In short, new 1956 Blue Chip GMC's are just about as impressive a line as you've ever seen. Values are even more remarkable. Drop by and see for yourself!

THIS IS JOSEPH HARTNETT, Atlantic dealer in Philadelphia, who has just won highest honors in the annual "Retailer of the Year" awards presented by Brand Names Foundation, Inc. In competition with thousands of service station dealers, in all parts of the United States, Mr. Hartnett placed first. He receives his special award at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City tonight.

BEHIND THIS BRAND NAME: A SPECIAL BRAND OF SERVICE

The man you see here is the symbol of a policy... give the motoring public high-quality products and topnotch service at a reasonable price.

Quality of products springs from the integrity, research and business principles of a company.

Quality of service comes from the character, ability and the interest of the man at the pump.

He's the key man in keeping your car on the go.

He does tough, dirty, outdoor jobs in the meanest kind of weather. He keeps long hours for your convenience. He looks for any sign of trouble in your car and acts promptly to save you major repair bills.

He's an able, independent person with the energy and courage to run his own business. To him, better service is the only foundation on which he can build the success of this business.

The tools he uses, the stock and equipment he has, the knowledge he gains through training and experience, the confidence he inspires, the loyal customers he makes—these are only a few of the ingredients of the special brand of Atlantic service.

The pride The Atlantic Refining Company takes in the outstanding achievement of Joe Hartnett is matched by our pride in the daily achievements of those Atlantic dealers from New England to Florida who offer service to their customers in this same interested way.

The price these dealers get for gasoline has a direct bearing on the quality of service they give. That is why the price policy of The Atlantic Refining Company includes a recommendation of suggested minimum retail prices to assure the dealer a reasonable profit.

In this way, motorists who stop at the Atlantic sign can be certain they get high-quality products plus topnotch service at a reasonable price. Today's big motoring value.

YOUNG FARMERS SHOWN SLIDES AND HEAR TALKS

The Upper Adams Young Farmers seek and obtain a wealth of information at their meetings.

At a recent session held in the Biglerville High School with President Myles Starnes presiding the group heard three speakers, with Harvey Raffensperger and Nelson Kane of the Adams County Fruit Packing and Distributing company speaking and showing slides on insects and their control on apples, peach and sour cherry trees, and Russell Rouzer, plant manager of the Miller Chemical and Fertilizer Corp., Hanover, speaking on insect and disease control on farm crops and weed control.

Raffensperger told the group that "the good finish spray program has been partially responsible for the build up of mildew," adding that mildew, which has become serious in county orchards the last year, "is hard to get rid of once established." "Sulphur," he added, "gives fairly good control."

Give Recommendations

He recommended farmers to control cedar rust, "which is especially bad on Rome." Spores of the cedar rust, which travels from cedar galls to orchards, "can travel up to eight miles," he added. He recommended paratize in the sixth and seventh cover to control ootryosphaeria rot. A September spray may be needed, he said, to give good control of sooty blotch which generally appears following late season rains.

Kane and Raffensperger recommended that growers planting trees use a benzene hexachloride dip to control infestations of woolly aphids on the roots.

Rouzer emphasized the importance of proper timing in the control of spittlebug and alfalfa weevil. Manufacturers, he said, are reworking their labels on materials in order to give the farmer explicit recommendations for the use of the material to protect the farmer and manufacturer from violations of the Miller bill regulations concerning pesticide residues and urged farmers to read and follow the recommendations on the labels.

REDS TO BACK U.N. PEACE PLAN

By ERIC GOTTGRETU
JERUSALEM (P) — Dag Hammarskjöld pursued his peace mission today with surprise support from an unexpected quarter—the Soviet pledge to back a U.N. settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Press reaction to the Russian move seemed generally favorable in both Egypt, which is getting arms from the Communist bloc, and in Israel, which contends those Communist arms are upsetting the balance of power in the Middle East.

U. S. Ambassador Edward B. Lawson left Tel Aviv somewhat mysteriously for Washington consultations. His plane seat was booked in the name of "Hyde" and he arrived at the airport while his Embassy was denying his departure.

Confers With Premier

Hammarskjöld, following up two long conferences yesterday, talked again with Premier David Ben-Gurion and other Israeli government leaders on how to reduce border tension and to avert the danger of a Middle East war.

Publicly, Israeli officials were saying nothing about Moscow's offer to back a U. N. settlement of the feuding, recently intensified that has marked the years since the Palestine war of 1948.

There was a similar official silence in Cairo, where Hammarskjöld conferred with Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and other Egyptian authorities last week.

The Israeli Foreign Ministry at noon still had not received an official text of the Soviet pronouncement, which called on Israel and the Arab nations to refrain from further incidents on existing armistice lines. Officials said comment would be given only after careful study.

moting civic programs in Columbus. Under his guidance and direction the religious, educational and welfare agencies of the diocese of Columbus have been expanded.

In July, 1946, Bishop Ready, as a representative of Pope Pius XII visited Japan to determine the religious needs of that country. He has served as secretary of the administrative board of bishops of the NCWC, chairman of the press department, NCWC, and advisor to the National Legion of Decency. He is presently chairman of the Department of Immigration, NCWC. Bishop-Elect Schott was recently named by Pope Pius XII Titular Bishop of Eliza and Auxiliary to Bishop Leech of Harrisburg.

MISS KESSEL, C. C. SHEMON ARE MARRIED

Miss Mary Frances Kessel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Kessel, R. 3, became the bride of Charles C. Shemon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shemon, Aspers R. 1, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Church of the Brethren, Biglerville Rd.

The pastor, the Rev. Robert Knechtel, officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with palms and snapdragons.

Walter A. Keeney Jr., Gettysburg, the soloist, sang "Because," "Allways," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Levi Ogburn was the organ accompanist.

The bride, given in marriage by father, wore a floor-length white satin gown trimmed with white lace and fashioned with a sweetheart neckline ending in a standup collar, long sleeves tapering over the wrists and a skirt ending in a chapel train.

MRS. CHARLES C. SHEMON

Her fingertip veil was attached to a half-cap designed with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with red rosebuds from which fell satin streamers tied with rose petals and lilies of the valley. She wore a single strand of pearls.

Reception Is Held

Mrs. Sam Kessel, R. 3, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a pink ballerina-length gown of nylon net over tulle with a lace jacket and carried a colonial bouquet.

John Shemon, Dillsburg, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Michael Shemon, Gardners R. 1, brother of the bridegroom, and Sam Kessel R. 3, brother of the bride, were the ushers.

The bride's mother wore a steel gray gabardine suit with navy and white accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. The mother of the bridegroom wore a navy crepe dress with white and blue accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

A reception was held for about 150 guests in the church social room after the ceremony. Later the couple left on a honeymoon of unannounced destination. As a going-away ensemble the bride wore a beige two-piece suit with a tweed topper and a corsage of red roses. Upon their return they will live at the home of the bride's parents for the present.

The bride, who was graduated from the Gettysburg High School in 1945, is employed in an agriculture office in Gettysburg. Her husband, who attended Biglerville High School, is a veteran of World War II. He is employed at the Middletown Air Depot.

Just 50 years ago this summer, two newspapermen, Charles Jasper Glidden of Boston and Charles Y. Knight of Chicago, played major roles in shaping the development of the automobile as we know it today.

Glidden, who had been first a telegrapher and later a writer in Lowell and Boston, Mass., and had later acquired a fortune in his organization of New England telephone companies, was an ardent motor tourist early in the century. In 1904 he and Mrs. Glidden had driven their English Napier from Boston to St. Louis World's Fair by way of Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago, and afterward fitted their car with flanged steel wheels and drove it over railroad rights-of-way to the Pacific Coast for the first leg of their round-the-world tour by automobile.

To encourage motor touring in the United States, and thereby stimulate highway construction, Glidden put up an expensive trophy, and the annual Glidden Tours began in 1905. For the 1906 tour from Buffalo, 1570 miles to Bretton Woods through Canada, 48 cars started and 19 finished. Because 13 made perfect scores, the rules were tightened for 1907, when the American Automobile Association technical committee was organized to take charge of scoring.

The tours continued, summer after summer, through 1913, when squabbles over which car actually won brought the series to a 33-year halt—they were nostalgically revived in 1946.

Of the 20 cars that entered but dropped out of the 1906 contest, was an unusual vehicle built by Charles Knight, with the backing of a Chicago friend, L. B. Kilbourne. It had an engine in which the traditional poppet valves of internal combustion engines were replaced by sleeve valves resembling in principle those of the steam engine. This was the first of the famous Silent Knights which, in the next two decades, showed up as power plants in many American and foreign motor cars. Among them were the Stoddard-Dayton, the Edwards-Knight, the Stearns, the Root and Vandervort, the Moline-Knight, the Brewster, Atlas, Columbia and Willys Knights, in the United States, and in the Belgian Panhard, Voisin, and Peugeot, the English Daimler, the German Mercedes, and the Italian De Lucca.

SCHOOL BAND POPULAR

An outstanding development in the Fairfield community has been the inauguration of a high school band. Many of the instruments and uniforms were provided by the Band Auxiliary, which has raised all the necessary funds through its activities. At present there are 45 students in the senior band, and approximately 75 other children taking instrumental instruction from Charles Rogers.

Welterweight boxer Hector Constance fought 21 amateur bouts before he turned pro in 1951.

Lightweight Ludwig Lightburn comes from a boxing family. His father was a top lightweight in Honduras for eight years.

MOST OF TOWN'S NEW STREETS ARE PAID FOR

Arendtsville went $1,000 farther into debt last year, according to the annual financial report filed by Auditors Clyde A. Allison and R. R. Criswell with the county clerk of courts, but the record shows the borough is still far from being in any serious difficulties financially.

The borough started and ended the year with a $4,000 debt in the water fund. At the end of the year, the water fund had a current balance of $2,444.76, well along the way toward eventual payment of that debt. $2,000 was borrowed for the general fund in anticipation of future income. The balance at the year in the general fund was $441.24.

Big expenditures in the street construction work of the town during the year led to the need to borrow money. The borough spent $7,051.47 from the general fund on highway construction and repair during the year, plus $310 from the highway aid fund, which ended the year with a balance of $77.75.

The general fund started the year with a balance of $1,620.92. Current taxation brought in $4,311.03 and prior taxes $154.57. $100.10 was received from licenses, and $341.26 from various grants. Income also included the loan of $2,000 and refunds totalling $15.58. Expenditures from the general fund included $736.73 for general government, which includes the amount paid the tax collector, $280 for fire hydrant rental, $20 for health and sanitation, $7,051.47 for highways and $25.02 interest on the loan.

The water fund started the year with a balance of $46.95 and had income totalling $4,282.50. Expenditures from the water fund included $160 interest on the $4,000 loan and $1,724.69 for operation of the water system. Expenses in the system included such items as $701.71 for pumping, $820.11 for distribution, $77 for purification and $125.87 for general expenses.

he is equally responsive whether his master keeps him busy retrieving ducks or the small fry of the family engage him in some fast maneuvering in the back yard. He is a fairly large dog, 21½ to 24½ inches high and 55 to 75 pounds in weight. Usually he is all black; however, many Labradors are "yellowish" in color. He wears a dense, short coat that keeps him warm in the coldest weather and tends to shed the mud or ice that slows up some of the long-haired and curly-coated retrievers.

With a legion of ardent American wild-fowlers, the thrill of hunting upland game birds and waterfowl with an alert, enthusiastic Labrador never wears off. They will swear, to a man, that this sturdy, light-footed retriever is indeed "The Go-getter of All Dogdom!"

Russia Tries To Establish Place In Mid-East With Claim To Aid In Israel-Arab Peace

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union appears to be moving swiftly and with great skill to consolidate a position as a power in Middle Eastern affairs.

This is the interpretation most generally placed here on the Russian Foreign Office announcement of readiness to cooperate in United Nations efforts to make peace between Israel and the Arab states.

The move, in the view of U.S. officials, was timed to set the stage for British-Russian talks on the Middle East. It was announced as a warship carrying Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party boss, approached English shores for the first visit ever made by Soviet Communist rulers to a great Western capital.

Watch London Scene

American officials are watching the London scene closely to see what kind of impact the Soviet leaders make on the people of England and Western Europe. They also are eager to learn whether the Kremlin pair comes up with any concrete proposals for Middle East action, for progress on disarmament negotiations or for developments on other world issues.

Officials here believe Bulganin and Khrushchev would welcome an invitation to visit Washington. No consideration is being given at present to extending such an invitation. It might be possible if their London visit goes off well.

The Russian policy shift on the Middle East is analyzed here as serving several Soviet purposes. At least one of them coincides with the announced abolition of the Cominform as an agency for international Red propaganda.

"Make World Relax"

This is the idea that a major aim of Soviet foreign policy now is to demonstrate peaceful and friendly intentions all over the world with the hope of diminishing fear of Soviet power and lulling the Western world into a sense of relaxation.

Until yesterday the Russians were subject to a charge that their only contribution to the Middle East situation had been to make bad matters worse between Israel and Egypt by selling arms to Egypt by selling arms to Egypt through Czechoslovakia.

Many U.S. and British officials feared that Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser, with Soviet support, was moving toward a military showdown with Israel possibly late this year.

Alarmed By War Possibility
Some authorities now speculate that perhaps the Russians came to the same conclusion and were alarmed by the possibility of an outbreak of full-scale war in Palestine.

At any rate, they now have moved away from full open support of Nasser and have sought to reestablish friendlier relations with Israel. This was dramatized when high Soviet officials suddenly showed up at an Israeli Embassy reception in Moscow Monday.

Secretary of State Dulles cautiously welcomed the Soviet change at a news conference yesterday, but said "it is important to read the fine print" when dealing with the Russians.

Asked about the problems of the Middle East, Dulles said that to the extent they are dealt with in the U.N. "a certain participation with the Soviet Union" would automatically be involved.

Adlai Welcomed In Pittsburgh Today

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Democratic leaders prepared today to welcome Adlai Stevenson to Pittsburgh in the first stop of his Pennsylvania campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

After a noon luncheon at the Press Club and a news conference the former Illinois governor was scheduled to speak at a democratic rally.

Stevenson will make a television address (KDKA-TV) tonight before flying to Harrisburg.

Following rallies at Harrisburg and Philadelphia, Stevenson will entrain for Washington on Friday.

Stevenson is unopposed in Pennsylvania preference primary.

U. S. personal income was running at the rate of $314 billion a year in early 1956.

TORQUATO SAYS STATE LOST 25 MILLIONS IN FIRM REFUNDS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Secretary of Labor and Industry John R. Torquato contended today the state lost 25 million dollars in "windfall" unemployment compensation payment refunds to 68 firms between 1949 and 1954.

"This financial windfall was realized very simply—through certain tax amendments passed in 1949 and 1951, written by the Chamber of Commerce for the benefit of the few large employers. It really represents, and having a most devastating effect on the fund," Torquato declared.

In an address prepared for delivery to the 54th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, Torquato said the 68 firms are among the 102 employers filing petitions against the Labor and Industry Department for its ruling that part of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. labor dispute was a lockout.

Got Tax Credits

"As a result of these amendments, from a high of 630 million in 1949, the (unemployment compensation) fund total dropped to 394 million in December, 1954, a decrease of 38 per cent," Torquato said.

Torquato said the amendments to the unemployment compensation law were made retroactive. "Ninety six of the employers now fighting the Westinghouse decision received tax credits or refunds amounting to almost 13½ million dollars," the secretary declared.

"These tax amendments were not written for the smaller employer," he asserted.

Says Duff Will Lose

He said the average tax reduction for all employers was two tenths of one per cent "while the large employers now fighting the decision in the Dauphin County courts received a two and one half times greater reduction."

"Without the intervention of the Chamber of Commerce, and its specially concocted legislation, the benefits paid out during the 1949-1954 period would not have exceeded the taxes received and Pennsylvania would be high on the list of solvency standards instead of scraping the bottom of the barrel," Torquato said.

President Harry Boyer of the Pennsylvania CIO Council told the convention yesterday that Democrat Joseph S. Clark, Jr., will defeat Republican James H. Duff for the U. S. Senate seat from the Keystone State now held by Duff.

More than two-fifths of U. S. foreign born people live in New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New Jersey.

19 Superintendents Get Salary Raise

HARRISBURG (AP)—Superintendents of 19 state mental institutions had a salary increase today ranging from $750 to $5,500.

Secretary of Welfare Harry Shapiro reported the new salary schedule yesterday, effective April 1. It raises the minimum and maximum salaries $2,500 and $3,500, to $12,500 and $16,500 yearly.

Shapiro said the move was necessary to keep state pay scales competitive with other states.

EMMITSBURG—Miss Elizabeth McCullough, Baltimore, spent the weekend with her father, Prof. R. J. McCullough, Mt. St. Mary's.

Prof. Arvin P. Jones, principal of the Emmitsburg High School, has returned from a two-day principals' conference in Baltimore.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Scott over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Smith, Mrs. Rachel Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow A. Henderson, and son, David, all of Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Zacharias have purchased the property of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Rosensteel at the west end of town. The Zacharias family has moved to their property, and the Rosensteels have moved to Frederick. Mr. and Mrs. William Benschel, near St. Anthony's, have sold their property to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lindsay and have moved to the Norman Shriver property recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Zacharias.

J. Leslie Gloninger and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baumgardner have returned to their homes here after spending the winter at Bradenton Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hahn, Waynesboro Rd., left last week to spend a month with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hahn, California.

The minstrel show, "Happy Days" will be presented under the sponsorship of the public school Parent Teachers Association Friday and Saturday nights, April 27 and 28. Mrs. Helen Daugherty has assembled some of Emmitsburg best talent for the production.

The Emmitsburg Elementary School faculty was in charge of a special group meeting of Frederick County teachers on "Teaching of Spelling," held at the East Frederick School, Frederick, on Monday. Tak-

MRS. HARBAUGH SELECTED AS PTA PRESIDENT

Mrs. R. C. Harbaugh was elected president of the Littlestown Jointure Parent Teachers' Association, at the April meeting held on Tuesday evening at the Rolling Acres Elementary School.

Others elected to office were: First vice president, Charles E. Ritter; second vice president, Richard A. Maitland; third vice president, Kenneth K. Kroh; secretary, Mrs. J. Leslie Yohn; treasurer, Mrs. Beaven P. Hanlon. The past president, Chester S. Byers installed the new officers.

The session Tuesday evening opened with the group singing "America," accompanied by Mrs. Arthur E. Bair Jr., followed with the flag salute. Elmer Shildt, retiring president, offered prayer. Reports were given by Mrs. Charles E. Tressler, retiring secretary and Mrs. Preston L. Myers, retiring treasurer.

Miss Simmons Speaks

Miss Joan Simmons, Adams County speech correctionist, was the guest speaker, and was introduced to the group by H. Dean Stover, chairman of the program committee. Miss Simmons explained that speech correction is a new field in education, especially in the state of Pennsylvania. The speaker stated that there are about 500 children in Adams County, who are in need of speech and hearing assistance, with 320 enrolled in the program. Forty-three of these pupils are in the Littlestown schools, involving both ing part in the discussion were: Mrs. Anna P. Leary, Miss Edna Stull, Mrs. Helen B. Walter, Miss Mary Flery, Mrs. Betty A. Baker, Mrs. Mavis Dornburg and Mrs. Mary S. Scott.

hearing and speech problems. The speaker further said that about 80 per cent of the children have articulation problems, the others are divided between stuttering, stammering and hearing. She explained the methods used to help correct each, in the latter case, to teach the students to use the hearing they have by auditory training. It was also noted that the program is progressing satisfactorily in the county.

Musical entertainment consisted of a saxophone solo played by Donna Rabenstein, accompanied by Grizelda Hahn. Both are seventh grade students. A cornet solo was played by Hugh Roberts and he was accompanied by Gary Strevig.

Fifth Grade Wins Award

The award for the largest number of parents in attendance was presented to the Fifth grade, taught by Mrs. Myrtle R. Manthey.

John H. Riley, elementary school principal, announced that the annual spring concert at Rolling Acres School will be held on Friday, May 4, in charge of Mrs. Elmira S. Deardoff, vocal music instructor, and Paul A. Harner, instructor of instrumental music. Sixth grade promotion exercises will be held on Thursday, May 24, to be followed with the PTA business session.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the April hostesses: Mrs. Wade H. Brown, chairman, Mrs. Earl Black, Mrs. Mary Bowersox, Mrs. Nevaeh A. Crouse and Mrs. Paul L. Hollinger.

PLOWING DELAYED

HARRISBURG (AP)—Cold weather rain and snow delayed spring plowing on Pennsylvania farms but good weather the past week has encouraged field work, the State Agriculture Department reported today.

SIDEBAR TALK HELD AT TRIAL

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A prolonged sidebar conference during the murder trial of Raymond P. Wilson ended the day's session yesterday with no explanation of its nature.

Wilson, a 33-year-old Tulsa, Oklahoma, ex-convict, and three others have been accused of the strangulation murder and robbery of wealthy Mrs. Lulubel Rossman, a 76-year-old widow, in her midcity hotel apartment last July 4. The other three, who attend the sessions daily on orders of the district attorney, will be tried later.

What apparently triggered the conference was the appearance as a commonwealth witness of Tulsa detective Capt. Harry L. Stege. The conference and later dismissal of the jury for the day prevented him from testifying.

Judge Eugene Alessandrini told the jury only that a question requiring deliberation had come up and that the court "can't go on without seriously prejudicing one side or the other."

Dist. Atty. Victor Blanc told the court in his opening statement last Monday that the state intended to prove that two of the four defendants had, at one time, as Tulsa police officers, arrested the other defendants for robbery.

"T-TOOTH GROWERS"

you can find nearly everything in the CLASSIFIED PAGES

"Tooth growers"? Well, maybe not. But you can find nearly everything else... from abrasives to zippers in the classified pages of your telephone directory.

These pages are so handy, and the alphabetical listings make things so easy to find. And the advertisers listed sell products and services you can depend on.

So the next time you want something... whether an animal hospital or a new set of golf clubs... look to the classified pages in your telephone directory.

Springtime is Plymouth Hardtop time!

The incomparable Plymouth Belvedere four-door Hardtop. V-8 or 6.

Most beauty, size, value in the low-price three—all yours in a big new Plymouth Belvedere or Savoy Hardtop!

Here's the ideal companion for springtime driving fun—a bright new Plymouth Hardtop. Drive one and see! Look at those racy "let's go!" lines... try the reflex-quick response of Plymouth's sensational new Hy-Fire V-8 or 6... see how easily your Plymouth whisks you through city traffic, out to the open road where you belong, you and your Plymouth Hardtop.

With windows down, you enjoy all the airy fun and flair of a convertible. With windows up, you're sedan snug. You won't settle for anything less, once you've driven a Plymouth Hardtop!

Plymouth is the biggest car in the low-price three... longest, lowest, roomiest, with a true big-car ride.

With the newest styling of the low-price three... this Plymouth is really new. No "warmed-over" design!

The only Push-Button Driving in the low-price three... mechanical, safe, and so simple. Optional on all models.

The performance champ of the low-price three... holds official NASCAR speed and acceleration records!

And... it's mighty easy to own a Plymouth Hardtop... ask your dealer about his modern finance plan today.

Plymouth costs less

From the day you buy it... through all the years you own it... you'll spend less on a Plymouth. That's one reason more Plymouths are used as taxis than all other cars combined.

Fairfield

FAIRFIELD—Mrs. Joseph Bushey, president of the NCCW of St. Mary's Church, presided at the recent meeting held in the church social rooms. Mrs. Bushey announced that all members are invited to attend the Deaneary meeting which will be held Sunday afternoon at Cone-wago Chapel. The annual election of officers were held with the following officers elected: President, Mrs. Joseph Bushey; first vice president, Mrs. Frank Weikert; second vice president, Mrs. Roger Topper; secretary, Mrs. Harry Kane; treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Wilson. These officers will be installed at the May meeting. The group will serve a breakfast to the children who make their first Holy Communion Sunday, May 20. Plans were made for the ladies to help with the public card party to be held in the church grove on Friday, April 27.

Miss Patricia Bushey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bushey, Fairfield, R. D., and a student at St. Mary's, Notre Dame, is representing her school at the convention of music being held this week in St. Louis, Missouri.

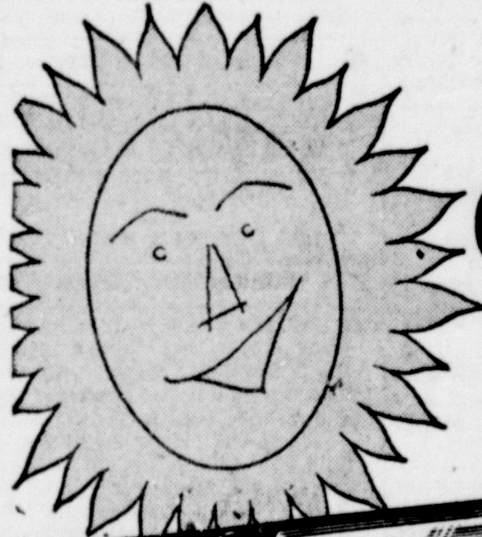

Warrant Officer Ray Musselman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Musselman, has been transferred from the Bardsdale Air Force Hospital, Shreveport, La., to the Walter Reed

Army Medical Center, Washington, D. C. The trip was made by army hospital plane. His condition is reported slightly improved. His address is as follows: Warrant Officer Ray Musselman, Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Ward 26, Washington 12, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Summers accompanied their son, Donald, who is serving with the Air Force, to Harrisburg recently. From there he went to New York City from where he will leave for an assignment in London.

Mrs. John Myers is visiting relatives in Philadelphia.

A dinner was held on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ott Shultz in celebration of the birthday anniversaries of Mr. Shultz and the Shultzes' son-in-law, Luther Peters, York. Those who attended included Mr. and Mrs. Shultz, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Peters, York; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Weikert and son, John, Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Shultz, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Shultz and children, Doris and Ray, Waynesboro R. D.; Mrs. Florence Baumgardner and daughter, Helen, Gettysburg; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Shultz and children, Nancy and Donna Kay, Armold, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Shultz and daughter, Teresa, Mr. and Mrs. John Fidler and daughter, Mary Catherine, and Mrs. Bessie Roth, Biglerville. Mrs. Fidler and Mrs. Roth are sisters of Mr. Shultz.

ers, water sets, one commode and a number of other fine, useful articles," he added.

Had Business Yet
Glenn F. Weishaar was born March 14, 1915, at Weishaar's Mill, near Fairfield, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Weishaar. After graduating from Fairfield High School he did farming and other jobs and then went to work at the Gettysburg Panel Company. One of his efforts was to assist in the construction of the Eternal Light Peace Memorial.

In 1939 he was employed by Marling's as a sheet metal worker, an assignment he took to with zest rising through the various grades until he is considered a specialist. While employed at Marling's he developed the urge to engage in private business with his brother.

On November 14, 1934, he was married to the former Miss Frances Bowling, of Gettysburg. They have four children: Glenn Jr., 18, a senior at Gettysburg High School who starred as quarterback on the Warriors' football team and who was also co-captain of the 1955 Warrior basketball team; Mrs. Lawrence Kane, Biglerville R. 2; Judith, 11, who is in the seventh grade at Xavier School, and Carol Frances, aged 3.

Distinguished Service
Eugene J. Weishaar was born April 8, 1919, in York, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Weishaar. A few years later the family returned to Adams County and Eugene was educated in the Bonneauville schools. He was employed at one time by the Windsor Shoe Co. of Littlestown and in June 1941 went into service serving with the Army with distinction in Europe.

He was discharged from service in August 1945 and the following month was married to the former Miss Mary Weaver, of Bonneauville. To this union have been born eight children: Ronald 9; Francis 8; Susan 7; Donna 6; Dennis 5; Brenda 3; Karen 2; and John 14 months.

In the business Glenn supervises the sheet metal work and general business efforts. Eugene is in charge of the bottled gas section and general service.

Weishaar's handle major appliances including Maytag washers, dryers, refrigerators and freezers and gas ranges.

Kelvinator refrigerators, freezers, ranges, water heaters, automatic washers, dryers and air-conditioning units.

Magic Chef gas ranges.
Caloric gas ranges.
Whirlpool washers and dryers.
Bendix washers and dryers.
Admiral Television sets.
Youngstown kitchens (sink, cabinets, etc.).
Duo-therm space heaters.
Kitchen-aid dishwashers.

Have 12 Employees

In the small appliance line Weishaar's merchandise Sunbeam mixers, toasters, fry pans and coffee makers; Pyrex; Revere Ware; Club aluminum and Boonton Ware dishes.

Weishaar's also conduct a TV repair service, do sheet metal work, roofing, spouting, air-conditioning, heating and plumbing.

They also deal in bathroom fixtures and deep well pumps.

In addition to the two brothers twelve others are employed:

Lloyd Schultz, Donald Schriver and John McPerrin in the sheet metal section; Clarence Turner, Allen Weishaar (their father) and Garnet McPerrin in the plumbing department; Raymond Weishaar in the washing machine service; John McGarvey in TV and refrigeration service; Lawrence Kane in service and delivery; Melvin Kane and Charles Hemler as salesmen and Miss Mary Margaret Kane as secretary.

BLAMES LABOR FOR HEAVY COST

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — A Pittsburgh contractor who says labor problems at the Tobyhanna signal depot increased his costs by one and a half million dollars, Tuesday testified before a U. S. grand jury probing alleged labor racketeering at the Army installation.

Joseph Rochez, president of Rochez Bros., Inc., told federal court reporters on Monday that his estimated costs for clearing and grading at the 3 million dollar depot was $2,900,000. Before the job was completed, he added, his cost rose to 4 1/2 million. He blamed a series of labor disputes for the boost.

On Monday the jury heard several members of a Scranton local of the painters and decorators union. The federal panel is scheduled to visit the depot Thursday for a first hand inspection of the installation.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

TWO BRIDGE OFFICIALS QUIT

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two financial officials have resigned from their posts with the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission but the chairman of a legislative committee investigating the agency called it "an apparent move to confuse the development of testimony."

Sen. Yosko (D-Northampton) said Robert A. Haney, Trenton, N. J., and W. Willard Schwab, Levittown, Pa., resigned effective on Monday.

Haney was controller, assistant treasurer and commission secretary while Schwab was deputy controller. Haney was paid $20,000 last year and Schwab $15,000.

Gov. Leader of Pennsylvania and Meyner of New Jersey charged the commission last February with wanton waste and extravagance. Since then Yosko's committee has been investigating the agency's operations.

Criticizes Delay

The Pennsylvania lawmaker criticized the delay in notifying the committee and commission of the resignations stating that commission members learned of them last Friday in letters dated March 16.

Yosko said Leslie Brown, Trenton, commission chairman, "concealed facts on the voluntary withdrawal of Haney and Schwab at a time when a special legislative group is probing the commission's activities."

"This," Yosko asserted on Monday, "is one of many instances when Chairman Brown operated the commission like a private reGENCY without any concern for his responsibilities to the people."

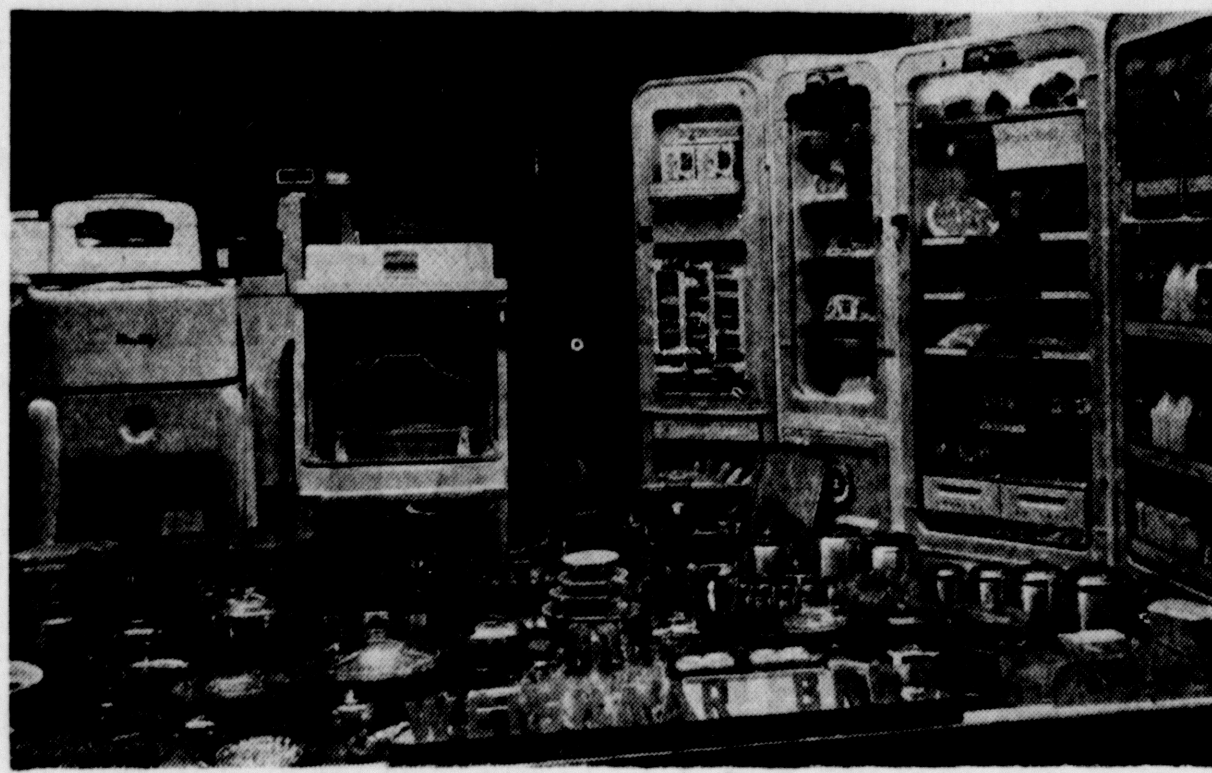

He said he will insist that Haney be brought before the committee "so that we can determine whether or not there is an apparent attempt to hide information that might prove incriminating to the three commission members."

The committee has subpoena powers.

BABY IS KILLED

HARRISBURG (AP) — Robert H. Ardrey, 4, was struck and fatally injured by an auto as he crossed a street near his home on Monday. Police identified the driver of the car as Dennis L. Jumper, 22, of nearby Marysville.

Display Window At Weishaar Brothers

Many Parts Of Home Can Be Fully Equipped From Stocks At Weishaar Brothers' Store

Weishaar Brothers have found over the years that "you have to have business with a lot of concerns" in order to meet the needs of the customers.

For example the customer has a choice between Magic Chef, Maytag and Caloric gas ranges. Each company produces beautiful, efficient gas ranges. Each has its own special features and thus every customer can find something to his satisfaction.

For the electric range customer Kelvinator, providing the finest in automatic ranges, is available at the store.

For the refrigeration customer the store has a reliable Kelvinator refrigerator and freezers and the Maytag combination refrigerator-freezer, thus providing the purchaser an opportunity to buy exactly what he wants.

Offer Everything For Kitchens

The customer going into the store can purchase a complete kitchen before he walks out of the establishment. Youngstown kitchen cabinets and sinks and dishwashers or a Kitchen Aid dishwasher, a gas or electric range, a refrigerator or freezer, Whirlpool and Bendix and Maytag washers and dryers are available—all excellent types from which the customer may choose. A Smithway glass-lined water heater will heat the water for the kitchen. If needed a Duo Therm space heater can warm the kitchen.

There are dishes and appliances galore to choose from for the kitchen—Revere Ware, Pyrex, Boontonware, Wearer pots and pans, and Sunbeam appliances ranging from mixers, toasters, coffee makers to frying pans.

And if the customer desires he can complete his kitchen with an Admiral TV — although the local concern admits there are not too many types available.

Roofing And Servicing
A house might have the best heating and air conditioning, best kitchen and toilet facilities and the best appliances going, but without a good roof and spouting would still be lacking in comfort. The Weishaar Brothers store carries on a tin-smithing and roofing business of many years reputation in Gettysburg.

Along with the roofing and spouting work the company maintains a complete metal working shop which can fulfill most any need of the homeowner or businessman or farmer for metal work and plumbing.

Along with its sales department, the store carries a full-time service department for television, wash machines, ranges, refrigerators, in fact provides service for the whole line of articles it sells.

The store also carries a complete line of Glidden Spred Satin paints for interior decoration.

Murphy Bus Lines Ask Fare Increase

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission has been asked to approve a one cent increase in one way cash fares and a 10-cent minimum fare on several routes of the Murphy Bus Lines in Berks, Chester and Montgomery counties.

The Pottstown company filed the new rate schedule on Monday, effective May 13, for service between Reading, Pottstown, Boyertown, Birdsboro and St. Peters.

Student tickets would be boosted 20 cents, to $1.40 for 20, and 10-trip commuter tickets would go up 15 cents per strip.

Murphy said the new fares would produce an estimated $3,850 more revenue yearly needed to meet higher operating expenses.

Begin Fourth Trial For Illegal Voting

TOMS RIVER, N. J. (AP) — The fourth trial arising from a grand jury probe of voting practices in Ocean County is under way here with Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Lord of Drexel Hill, Pa., and nearby Ocean Gate as defendants.

A jury of 14 was chosen before County Judge John J. Ewart on Monday as the state prepared its attempt to prove the couple voted illegally in the resort of Barnegat Bay.

DEATHS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HOLLYWOOD — Leo Spitz, 68, former president of RKO Studios, cofounder and executive head of production of Universal-International Studios, and former chairman of the Illinois Racing Commission. Born in Chicago. Died Monday.

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—Herbert H. Franklin, 89, who formed the H.H. Franklin Co. in Syracuse in 1903 and with four partners developed a 20-million-dollar automobile manufacturing business, giving his name to the once-popular Franklin automobile with its air-cooled motor. Died Monday.

WEST CALDWELL, N.J.—William Miller Collier, 88, former minister to Spain and onetime ambassador to Chile, attorney and authority on civil service. Born in Auburn, N. Y. Died Sunday.

AKRON, Ohio—Norman Gingenbach, about 60, circulation manager of the Erie (Pa.) Times. Died yesterday.

BALTIMORE—The Rev. March Chas. Mayo, priest in charge of St. Stephen the Martyr Episcopal Church in Baltimore since 1903. Died Sunday.

Lord, a supervisor, and his wife, Lillian, are among more than 100 persons indicted by the grand jury on various illegal vote charges. The defendants in the other cases were acquitted.

Former Revenue Official Guilty

OMAHA (AP) — G. Elmer Brown, former Philadelphia Internal Revenue Service official, was found guilty on four charges of perjury by a federal district court jury Monday night. The jury held him innocent of a fifth perjury count.

Judge John W. Delehant deferred sentence.

The charges involved a government contention that Brown had attempted to impede a 1950 investigation of the office of James P. Finnegan, then St. Louis tax collector, by terming charges against Finnegan "preposterous" and "absurd."

In 1952 a second probe of Finnegan's office resulted in a two-year sentence for him on charges of misconduct in office.

Bill Protects Pa. Against Forgeries

HARRISBURG (AP) — A proposal aimed at protecting the Revenue Department against the altering and forging of all tax and inspection stamps it issues went to Gov. Leader today with legislative approval.

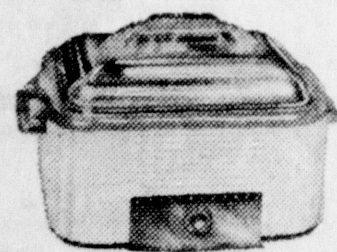

The Senate yesterday approved the House-passed bill authorizing the Revenue Department to insure all stamps and other negotiable instruments it handles. Stamps used in the collection

IKE IS CHEERED BY GOP LEADERS AFTER ADDRESS

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has pledged no "surrenders to pressure, bribes for support, escapes from responsibility" in his campaign for re-election.

Eisenhower urged Republicans last night to make a special drive to enlist young people in a campaign he said must be "concerned with those things which count for most—people and principles."

Eisenhower was cheered lustily by 900 GOP leaders as he addressed a colorful banquet that wound up a two-day pre-campaign strategy meeting. His speech, in effect, was the opening of his own re-election effort.

"Organized Crusade"
"Our aim must be to convince every American newly arrived at voting age that the Republican party... is the party through which these young citizens' aspirations for their country can be achieved," Eisenhower said.

In sounding a call for what he termed an "organized crusade" on behalf of people and principles, the President invited aboard Republicans, independents and those he described as "sound thinking Democrats." He said "we welcome them all."

Although this was a party gathering, Eisenhower had no harsh things to say about the Democrats. In fact, he told the assembled GOP leaders Democrats, like Republicans, are loyal to the United States, devoted to freedom and human dignity, and insistent on national security and the welfare of the people. Eisenhower said Republicans and Democrats differ on methods, not objectives.

They Want Nixon
The President shared the limelight with Vice President Nixon. Party workers left little doubt by their applause most of them want Nixon on the ticket again.

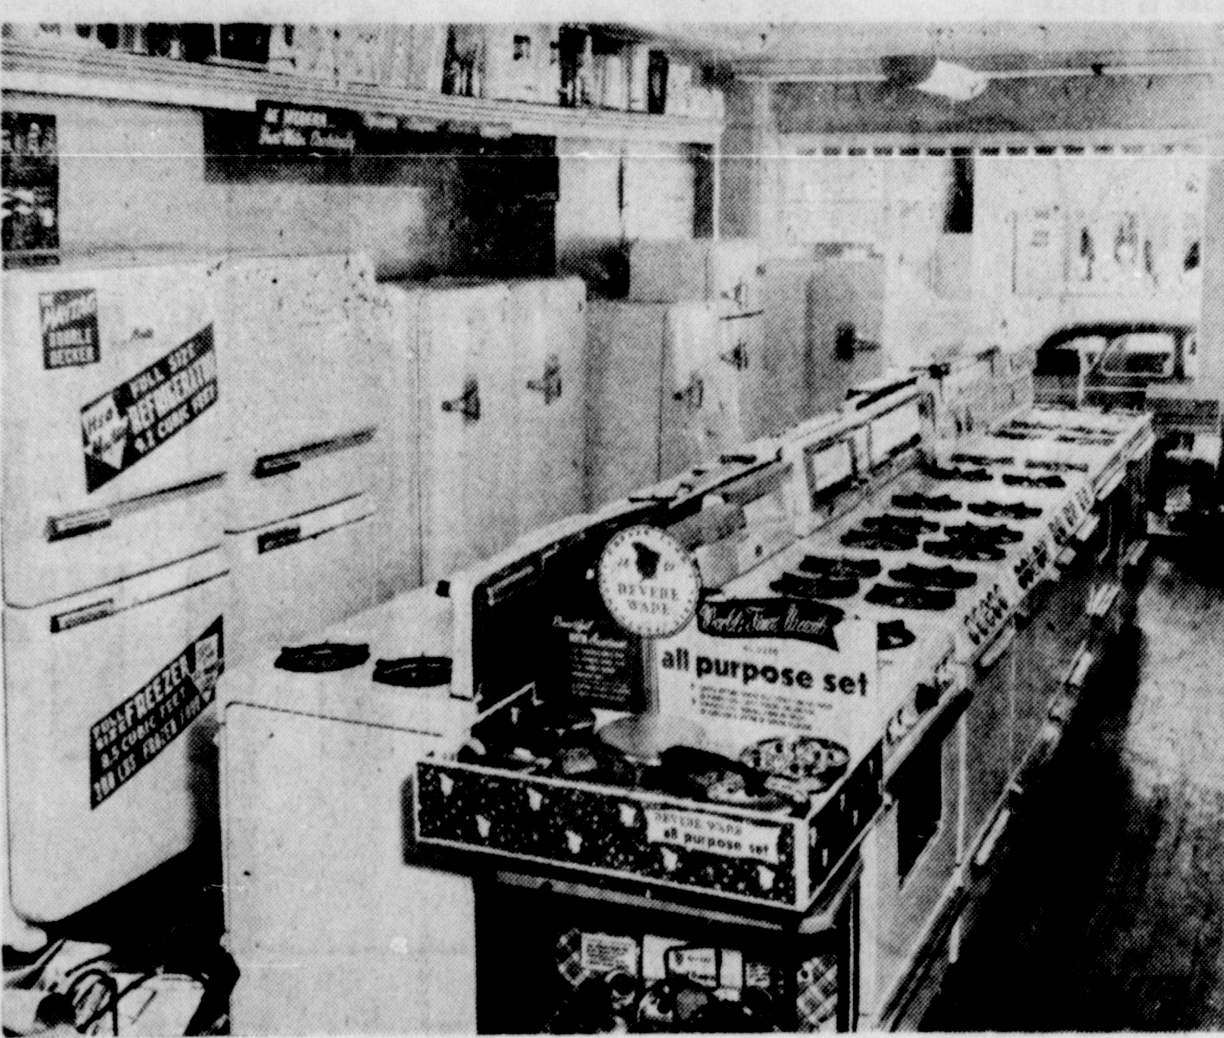

Eisenhower has said he would be happy to run on any ticket with Nixon, but that Nixon must chart his own course. Last night, Nixon may have indicated, at least indirectly, that he had made a decision to seek re-election.

Introduced by GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall, who repeatedly has assured Nixon would be on the ticket, the vice president told Eisenhower:

Nixon's Pledge
"We shall serve in any capacity necessary to assure your re-election to the position you now hold. We pledge ourselves here and now to do our best to give you in November what you need and deserve to carry out your program and to win the House and Senate."

Eisenhower, half turned in his chair, listened intently as Nixon said that "what marks any great President is summed up in one word, courage — courage to do the right thing as he sees it regardless of what the political consequences might appear to be at the time."

Nixon said most politicians believed the easiest way was for the President to sign the farm bill. But he said Eisenhower did what he thought was right in vetoing it.

Eisenhower told the Republican leaders — most of whom had closed ranks in support of his veto action — that he had received a flood of messages. He said some were critical, citing one from a man in California who he said accused him of being persuaded by his "rich business friends to crucify the farmers of the U.S." Eisenhower said every message he had from a business man urged him to sign the bill.

Eisenhower stressed the civil rights theme with an assertion the Republican party "sets up no walls of birth or creed." He said it was one of the fundamental principles of the GOP that "every American is equal before the law and the conscience of government."

Oppose EST Rule For Liquor Stores

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Sabbath School Assn. was on record today against a Liquor Control Board order allowing retail outlets to operate on Eastern Standard Time this year.

The association yesterday asked Gov. Leader to block the plan which in effect grants clubs and hotels an extra hour to sell liquor after midnight Saturday when Daylight Saving time goes into effect April 29.

The governor told his weekly

Quigley Firm Is Sued For $40,000

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Lewis-town couple, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar P. Herber, filed suit in U.S. District Court yesterday against the Quigley firm, Gloucester, N.J., seeking $40,000 damages for injuries suffered in an automobile accident two years ago.

The suit said that a truck of the Quigley firm struck the Herber automobile June 4, 1954, near Mifflintown and that both Herber and his wife, Helen, suffered injuries to the neck and spine and shock to their nervous system. The suit also contained a claim for loss of their automobile.

Injured Spectator At Auto Races Dies

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Forrest Heckman, 29, of Temple, Berks County, injured while watching last Sunday's auto races at nearby Williams Grove speedway, died yesterday in Carlisle Hospital.

Dr. Edward A. Haegele, Cumberland County coroner, attributed death to concussion and hemorrhage. He said an inquest probably will be held into the death.

Heckman was injured when struck by a wheel that sheared off a car owned by Orvil Slaseman, Mechanicsburg. The flying wheel hurled up an embankment on a turn and struck the spectator.

It was the first time Heckman had attended a race at the speedway.

HOUSE TO VOTE TODAY ON FARM BILL IKE VETOED

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders called for a House vote today to override President Eisenhower's veto of the farm bill but conceded in advance they were merely going through the motions. They acknowledged they had no real hope of mustering the two-thirds margin required to upset Eisenhower's rejection of the bill, failure to poll such a majority would kill the measure. Only in the event the House voted to override would it go to the Senate for a similar test.

House rules limit debate on a veto message to one hour.

Want Roll Call
With partisan feeling running high, the Democrats prepared to demand a recorded roll call on the farm issue for use in the fall political campaign.

"This is one thing they (the Republicans) can't pass on to anybody else," said Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.). "Nobody else vetoed this bill except Mr. Eisenhower. It's his responsibility."

Eisenhower reiterated in a speech to a GOP conference last night that politics did not enter into his decision to reject the measure, which he described in his Monday veto message as contradictory and self-defeating.

Arithmetic On Vote

On the move to upset his veto, the arithmetic clearly worked against the Democrats. On two key votes on the bill a week ago, when the House passed the bill, the administration's supporters both times garnered 181 votes. Passage came on a 237-181 roll call.

If 181 members voted to sustain the veto, backers of the Democratic bill would have to pick up 25 votes elsewhere — and there aren't that many House members.

There were signs that at least some of the 48 Republicans who voted for the bill originally would not vote to override the veto. Some from the Midwest stuck by their position, however.

Keep Ike's Promise

The administration itself moved again to give force to Eisenhower's promise to use his administrative powers to raise farm income.

Late yesterday, the Agriculture Department announced this year's cotton crop will be supported at levels reflecting about 87 per cent of parity — three points less than the 90 per cent provided in the vetoed bill. Parity is a legal standard said to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

DEALERS IN CONVENTION
HARRISBURG (AP) — Some 400 dealers turned their attention today to dairy problems in Pennsylvania and surrounding states at the convention of the Pennsylvania Assn. of Milk Dealers.

Bridal Gown Designer Stresses Individuality

Gaston Mallet is a young French-Canadian designer, now in New York, who believes that all brides are beautiful, but that some are not given a chance to prove it.

For several seasons now, under the encouragement of his friend and employer, Murray Hamburger, he has been working to give every bride the kind of wedding gown that will make her as beautiful as she has the right to be.

Mallet does not believe that every wedding gown must look just like every other — a theory that was widespread among bridal dress manufacturers until recent years. His collections present more than a score of completely different designs twice a year — some simple, some elaborate, some tailored, some romantic — so that almost any bride can find the kind of gown exactly right for her type.

This spring Mallet has two themes. One is the little girl look which he likes for the very young bride. The other is strictly fabulous and definitely romantic, designed for the glamor bride.

In the latter category is a magnificent gown of delicately etched white Swiss shadow printed organdy over blue taffeta. Cut on princess lines, it has a modest neckline, short cover-up sleeves and a skirt that flares into a misty froth of fullness, with a full cathedral train.

APPROVE AIR BASE DEVICE

NEW YORK (AP) — An Air Force proposal to build a new instrument at Olmsted Air Force Base, Middletown, Pa., has been given approval by a regional air space subcommittee.

In approving the proposal unanimously yesterday, the subcommittee sent its recommendation to the Air Space Panel of the President's Air Coordinating Committee in Washington for final action.

Needed New Runway

M. E. Phillips, secretary of the subcommittee, which handles air space problems in 15 northeastern states, said Olmsted needed the new runway for flying high performance jet aircraft for modification after they leave assembly lines. The subcommittee's approval, he said, was conditional on Air Force installation of necessary radar and instrument landing equipment for the new runway.

The radar installation, he said, would also improve operations at nearby Harrisburg State Airport, helping to expedite instrument operations there.

Dick Sisler, whose home run for the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Brooklyn Dodgers out of the 1950 pennant on the last day of the National League campaign, is back playing first base with San Diego in the Pacific Coast League.

Michigan State will meet Indiana, Purdue, Wisconsin and Kansas State in home football games next week.

Longstreet's Widow Fights For Cause Of Man Who "Lost Strategic Civil War Battle"

Mrs. Helen Dorth Longstreet, widow of General James Longstreet, one of Lee's top commanders who opposed Pickett's Charge on the third day of the Battle of Gettysburg, is still fighting for a "cause" despite her ninety plus years of age, according to Jean White, staff writer for The Washington Post.

Many Gettysburgians will remember Mrs. Longstreet's visit here a number of years ago when she arranged an elaborate ground-breaking program on the battlefield for the erection of a memorial statue to her late husband.

In a recent article in the Post Miss White writes:

For more than a half century, she has been carrying on the fight to clear the name of her husband, Confederate Gen. James Longstreet. "History will set me right," Longstreet kept telling his young second wife in the seven years of their marriage before his death in 1904. The General had known bitterness. To many in the South, he was known "the man who lost the battle that lost the Civil War."

Fights Husband's Cause
That is Helen Dorth Longstreet's cause these many years — to see that history gives Longstreet "the place he deserves."

She is now ready with a biography of Gen. Longstreet "from boyhood to the hour of his death" — if she can find a publisher.

"The Great American" is what the spirited widow calls the biography.

Mrs. Longstreet came to Washington from her home in Savannah Beach, Ga., to attend the convention of the National League of American Pen Women.

Takes Pen A Second Time

This is the second time Mrs. Longstreet has taken up pen in defense of Gen. Longstreet. In 1904, soon after his death, she wrote "Lee and Longstreet at High Tide" because she just "couldn't take the stories and criticisms about the General" (her husband always has been "the General").

Takes Federal Post
In the aftermath of the Gettysburg disaster, Longstreet — whom Lee called "my old war horse" — came under fire. Critics said he delayed his attack on the second day and mismanaged Pickett's doomed charge on the bloody afternoon on July 3, 1863. Longstreet went on to fight gallantly for the Confederacy until Appomattox. Then, with the war over, he accepted a federal appointment as surveyor of the Port of New Orleans from his old battlefield foe, President Ulysses S. Grant. Longstreet had been in the Union leader's wedding party before the Civil War split these West Point classmates.

Resentment against Longstreet boiled over in the embittered South. It followed the general to his grave on a Georgia hillside.

On his death, the United Daughters of the Confederacy passed sharp resolutions against sending flowers to the funeral of the old Confederate leader.

His widow is a Confederate Daughter herself. But "the General" has borne the blame too long for the Gettysburg defeat, she maintains.

Ordered Attack

"General Lee ordered the attack at Gettysburg," she declares. "It was made. It was a failure. On the retreat back into Virginia, Lee sat around the campfire and said to Longstreet: 'You shouldn't have made the Pickett charge.' And Gen. Longstreet answered: 'But you know, General, I was obliged to make it under orders.'"

"The General (Longstreet) told me the only tears he ever wept came when he gave the orders for Pickett to make the charge. He knew the men would be dead in 20 minutes for nothing. If we were going to win, it would have been different."

"The General just didn't have sufficient force, at least that's the way they put it in military language, to drive the Union forces from the hill. It was the army they were after not the position."

Saddest Day He Remembers

The General always said Gettysburg was the saddest day of his life, his widow still remembers.

"He knew the South was lost then," she explains. "After the war, he placed himself on the high plane of American citizenship, and the South hated him. He was the greater American in accepting the results."

Money from her book, Mrs. Longstreet said, will go toward reviving a long-delayed drive for funds to erect a statue to Gen. Longstreet on the Gettysburg battlefield. The statue is in the model stage, and a site has been dedicated.

FISHBAIT KEEPS HOUSE IN ORDER

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Few people know the name William M. Miller. But say "Fishbait" and they smile. Everybody knows "Fishbait." Just call the Capitol, say "Fishbait"—and in a click he's on the line.

A stocky, pleasant little man, importantly preoccupied with a hundred-and-one details, Fishbait now in his 24th year on the Hill is serving his third term as Democratic doorkeeper of the House of Representatives. During the Republican 80th and 83rd Congresses, he was minority doorkeeper.

Does Varied Job

He's been postal clerk, messenger to the doorkeeper, and assistant sergeant at arms. He says at least 50 per cent of the people up there don't know he has another name. People began calling him "Fishbait" down in Pascagoula, Miss., where they fish with shrimp, when he was a lad of 15, weighed only 75 pounds, and was "only a shrimp."

On his job, he does more than just open doors. On quorum calls and roll calls he tells the Democrats how the party is voting on the matter at hand. He will say to each member entering, "quorum call, voting present," or "tax bill, voting yes."

He announces all messages from the Senate and all those in writing from the White House. He has the privilege of leading the Cabinet to the floor during joint sessions. One of his big duties is to announce all visiting dignitaries, including the President.

Oversees Rooms

Miller carries a polite reminder from the State Department in his pocket, received just before the arrival of Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands. He was told to introduce her as "Her Majesty, the Queen of the Netherlands," and to address her as "Your Majesty," to introduce Bernhard as "His Royal Highness, the Prince of the Netherlands" and address him as "Your Royal Highness." This came after he greeted Queen Elizabeth, then princess, and the duke of Edinburgh with "Howdy, Ma'am," and "Howya, Sir."

Fishbait is also responsible for the folding room, where speeches are wrapped; the documents room, three ladies' rooms, the janitors in the House wing, the 50 House page boys, three barber shops, 30 door-men and the baling machine for wastepaper from the two House Office Buildings.

When he has time he goes fishing. He takes time to get in his Baptist church work, four meetings of a Sunday, Wednesday prayer meeting, Friday visitation. He also reserves a share of his time for his daughter Sarah Patsy, 13, and his wife, Mabel, to whom he's been married 17 years.

"I have 437 bosses in the House," he said, "but the one at home is the strictest."

NEW YORK (AP) — Rolfe Humphries has been awarded the 1955 fellowship of the Academy of American Poets. The $5,000 stipend is said to be the largest for poets in this country. A new collection of Humphries' work, "Green Armor on Green Ground," is a new book by Scribner.

ITALIAN CRAZE ON THE RISE

By DOROTHY ROE

Seems everybody's crazy about Italy these days. Italian haircuts, Italian movie stars, Italian food and Italian fashions are the new rage. American travelers come back raving about the beauty of Rome, the brilliance of Florence, the elegance of Italian fashions, the charm of Italian women, the graciousness of the Italian way of life.

Especially they like the fashions—the bold and brilliant colors of Italian sports clothes, the richness of Italian fabrics, the carefree ease of Italian shirts and sweaters for both men and women.

This year American buyers and press have flocked to Rome and Florence for the Italian spring fashion showings, and from their dispatches it is evident that the furore over things Italian is still increasing.

Like France, Italy is a sort of laboratory of fashion, where custom dressmakers create fashions peculiarly for a private clientele. But they also sell models to American manufacturers and stores, thus helping to create new international style trends.

BABY SITTERS PROFIT WITH RIGHT ATTITUDE

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

What's your baby sitter I.Q.? If you aren't making a good income out of this occupation, take the advice of other sitters—you can clean up if you have the right attitude toward the job.

Nine out of ten high school girls seem to earn spare money taking care of youngsters these days, but some of them are more in demand than others.

"Why?" I asked one popular girl recently. She thought the reason was this:

Go Easy On Restrictions

"If you remain calm with the children, do not impose too many restrictions on them but watch them carefully and feed them the way they have been accustomed to, they will like you."

She explains that some baby sitters keep saying "don't, don't, don't" to the children rather than taking the trouble to distract the youngster from the danger he courts or from his uncontrollable urge to be naughty because mama is away. She says:

"It is so much easier to take their minds off what they plan to do than to keep telling them not to do it. But you must take the trouble."

do it. But you must take the trouble."

Adopt Selfish Attitude

Some parents complain that their baby sitters just sit and smoke all the time they are in the house, issuing orders to the children like "sit down" or "stand up." Others say the sitter really doesn't want to work, she wants to read or watch television in peace and keep the children quiet so she can enjoy herself.

Another baby sitter thought that you should try to earn the child's respect by dressing nicely and by being firm but kind. She says:

"I used to wear blue jeans and the kids never would do anything I asked them to. When I started dressing up I seemed to get along with them much better."

Request Soft Voices

Two of the favorite baby sitters in our neighborhood have an added qualification that seems to have a calming influence on little hellions: soft voices. Neither girl raises her voice when speaking to a youngster, and each manages to control them beautifully. One mother was dumbfounded when she arrived home from a shopping trip and found her 2-year-old little boy asleep on the sofa. "It's the first time he's ever done that," she said. "Normally he won't sleep anywhere other than his crib."

She attributed his sudden dropping off to the sandman voice of the sitter. "Just as important as a doctor's good bedside manner," she says.

These girls earn the reward of having very little to worry them

Columbia Offers Democrats Time

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System said Monday it had offered the Democratic National Committee free TV-radio time to reply to President Eisenhower's speech Monday night explaining his farm veto.

The network said when the White House asked for time it immediately advised the Democratic National Committee it would grant it time, also. The Democratic reply is scheduled for Monday, April 23, at 10 p.m. EST.

Meanwhile, Paul H. Butler, Democratic National Committee chairman said he had asked the National Broadcasting Co., the American Broadcasting Co. and the Mutual Broadcasting System for free and equal time also.

NBC said it advised Butler it would grant the committee's request. The time and speaker still have to be worked out.

The other networks had the matter under discussion.

Proposes Lottery To Nip Inflation

LONDON (AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan Tuesday proposed a state-run drawing, with money prizes, to help Britain fight inflation.

The drawing would be run on one pound ($2.80) saving bonds.

Bond holders would take part in a drawing every three months, with top prizes possible up to 1,000 pounds ($2,800), and a number of smaller prizes.

The premium bonds would be cashable at any time, but would not carry interest.

The chancellor said the idea was to encourage savings and he explained that no one could lose on the deal.

Jets Crash-Land; Pilots Are Unhurt

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Two F86D jet fighters crash-landed on a small civilian airstrip at Matamoras, Pa., on Monday after getting lost in bad weather during a training mission.

The jets were on a flight from McGuire Air Force Base near Trenton, N. J., according to a spokesman at Stewart Air Force Base here, the air base nearest Matamoras.

One of the planes nosed over in soft ground short of the runway, but the pilot was not injured.

The two pilots were identified as 1st Lt. Redmond P. Harkins, 26, of Crystal Lake, Ill., and 1st Lt. Danny C. Shyler, 25, of Anderson, Ind.

with children because the children love to mind. What's more, they reap extra pay because they are in demand, and because the mothers are so grateful for their good services.

Good Sitter Rewarded

One mother even took one of these girls on a nice summer vacation last year. She said:

"I wouldn't take the average sitter because they're so noisy, and their idea of entertaining the children is to play live records or watch soap operas on TV. But our little sitter is so lady-like it's a pleasure to have her around."

I asked one of these girls what the secret of her success was so that we could all profit by it and she surprised me with this answer:

"I like to pretend I'm the children's mother when I'm with them. I find that this makes me enjoy the children more. I like children and I think if you don't you shouldn't be a baby sitter. Some sitters tell me they spank naughty types they take care of. I think that is terrible. If the child is naughty in the sitter's presence it is usually the sitter's fault. Even the worst brought up child should be intrigued by the face of the substitute, and usually they are very easily handled if you treat them gently, and let them know you like to be with them."

DOGS

by Farley Manning

PERFORMING DOGS.

The performing dogs of Officer Pressley's Traffic Safety Circus provide a novel lesson in traffic safety while at the same time demonstrating what patience and understanding can do in strengthening communications between man and dog.

The "act" which has been seen by 4½ million school children in 41 states is sponsored by the American Trucking Association and the one human in the act is a policeman — Officer Ernest E. Pressley, a member of the Charlotte, N. C., police department.

Leading lady of the show is Lassie, who pushes a baby carriage in demonstrating the proper way to cross a street. Another member of the canine cast who makes a big hit with the children is Elmer, the clown of the show, who manages to do everything wrong.

Other members of the troupe demonstrate safety habits by performing on ladders, barrels, platforms and other props. Then to follow up on the lessons taught, test papers are given to the children who get membership in a traffic safety club if they answer all questions correctly.

While the program is pointed at teaching traffic safety we suspect that many a youngster goes home with determination to make the family dog as well-trained and as responsive to commands as Officer Pressley's stars — And this is to be commended.

A well trained dog is not only happy himself but gives far more pleasure to his owner. And the child who early learns the principles of training can look forward to many years of extra happiness with his pets.

But the oldest historical record pertaining to the breed shows that about 150 B.C. Chow Chows were used in China as hounds.

Chows were also raised as meat and fur animals and it is reported that in some parts of Mongolia they still are. Various breeds of Arctic dogs are still used by their primitive masters for their meat and hides as well as to draw sleds, hunt game, and herd reindeer. American Indians used their dogs in equally diversified ways.

Even in more primitive days to turn spits that rotated meat roasting at a fireplace, or to trot endlessly on treadmills to furnish power for light mechanical tasks. Such practice is not wholly past in Europe. Neither is the use of dogs as draft animals.

In the days of Europe's famous (or infamous) medical charlatans and similar abracadabrist, some of these, for instance, Casanova, were accompanied by dogs of the general mastiff family that had been trained to help in the act of speaking (apparently spontaneously, actually on the charlatan's cunning signal) some recognizable words Dogs who can do that have

DOGS AT WORK

One of the peculiarities of mankind as distinguished from other animals is that man will find a use for anything. Some of the uses men have found for dogs seem odd to the modern American dog fancier. Probably no Chow Chow now alive in this country has been trained and used to hunt game.

DRIVER CONTROL

UNION, N. J. (AP)—There are strings attached to the car Maurice Feldman bought for his daughter Sandra on her 18th birthday.

She signed an agreement promising to give up use of the car for 30 days if she gets a speeding ticket or any other traffic violation.

Two tickets and the suspension goes up to 60 days.

For a third speeding offense it'll be back to using buses.

FARM VETO IS CAUSING SOME ELECTION WORRY

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence of some Republican dissatisfaction with President Eisenhower's farm bill veto emerged Tuesday from a GOP campaign conference despite Party Chairman Leonard W. Hall's contention it "will help the Republican party."

George F. Etzell, Minnesota national committeeman, told reporters the farm bill veto "is going to make it harder for us to elect Republicans in the Midwest."

Unfavorable Reports

A committee headed by Etzell heard at closed sessions on Monday what some members described as unfavorable reports about the political complexion of the farm situation from Kansas and South Dakota.

Kansas National Committeeman Harry Darby was reported to have told the group Kansas may turn out some Republican congressmen because of farm price dissatisfaction. The South Dakota delegation, headed by Senators Francis Case and Mundt, was said to have made it clear they don't want Secretary of Agriculture Benson campaigning in their states.

Hope To Make Up Votes

Hall said the farm bill veto "won't make my job any tougher," but he indicated rather clearly the Republicans hope to make up in the big cities any votes they might lose in farm areas.

"To my mind, the Republican party is doing all right in the cities," he said.

Hall said the Democrats in Congress had "stalled" action on farm legislation. He intimated they deliberately sent Eisenhower a bill they hoped he would veto.

"The President was absolutely right in vetoing the farm bill and he will be sustained by the American people," he said.

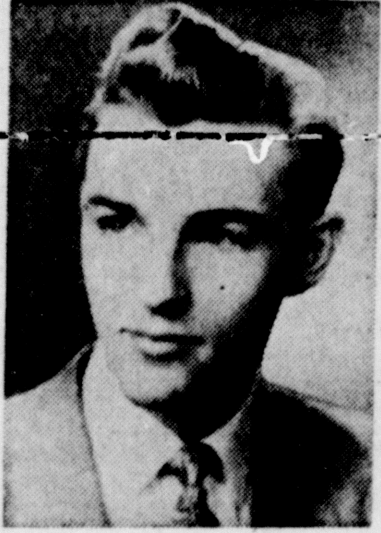

Won't Cost States

He said the farm situation "is not as I would like it," but he said he doesn't think it will cost the Republicans any states in the November presidential election.

"In my opinion the veto will help

ELMER RAYMOND BOROWSKI

At the close of banking business on Friday, April 16, 1954, Elmer Raymond Borowski, teller in the Commercial Department of the First National Bank of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio, neatly put his desk in order, donned his hat and topcoat, and politely said "Good-bye" to the girl clerks in his office. When Borowski said "Good-bye" he meant it because the FBI is looking for him as a result of his embezzlement of $25,000 from various commercial accounts.

This loss was discovered as a result of a book audit when Borowski failed to appear for work on Monday morning, and it was discovered that he had covered up the shortages by making false entries in the bank's books. Borowski was looked upon by his friends and business associates as a young man of excellent prospects, and it was a great surprise to find that the quiet, studious, 29-year-old bank employee was the subject of an FBI investigation.

Attended College

The fugitive was born September 25, 1927, at Williamsport, Pa., being one of nine children. He graduated from Williamsport High School and spent one term at the Lock Haven State Teachers College. He left the college to enter the Armed Forces and served in the U. S. Army for a year and one-half. In the fall of 1947, Borowski came to Cincinnati and enrolled at the University of Cincinnati. A year later he secured employment at the victimized bank and became enamored with an airline hostess. In the years to follow he progressed steadily and established a reputation as a promising young executive. His associates state he was of a quiet, reserved nature and was not inclined to talk about his personal affairs. When not with his girl friend, his evenings were spent in a neighborhood bar where he would quietly watch television, drink beer sparingly and occasionally play the pinball machines. He was enthusiastic about golf and played the game regularly. He was also intensely interested in football and baseball and would make out-of-town trips to see big-time football or baseball.

Looks Cross-Eyed

Borowski is described as being 29 years old, five feet eight inches, 145 pounds, medium build, brown hair, blue eyes with the right eye having a noticeable cast. This often gives the fugitive the appearance of being cross-eyed. His complexion is medium, and he has a small scar on his chin. There is also a three-quarter inch boil scar on the back of his neck at the hairline. Borowski may wear glasses, dresses conservatively, is bow-legged, and has been employed as a tool designer, clerk and, obviously, a bank teller. The fugitive is not known to be armed or dangerous, and there is no indication that he possesses suicidal tendencies.

Anyone receiving information regarding the whereabouts of Borowski should communicate the same immediately to Norman H. McCabe, special agent in charge of the Philadelphia office of the FBI, 500 Weidener Building, Philadelphia, Pa., telephone number Rittenhouse 6-5300.

Several weeks ago The Gettysburg Times published the story of Thomas Francis Connelly Jr., wanted in connection with the largest cash bank robbery in the history of American crime. Next week will be published the story of a member of the Connelly Gang, Redmond Cribbin, who at the time of his participation in the bank robbery was already wanted by the FBI for unlawful flight to avoid confinement for murder.

FINISH MEXICAN MEAL WITH RICH COCONUT TREAT

By CECIL BROWNSTONE

The Associated Press
Want a taste of Mexico? Then try this recipe for coconut pudding. An acquaintance of ours first ate this dessert in Cafe Tacuba in Mexico City and was fascinated by it. She ordered it steadily during her visit until she felt sure she had the formula. When she came back to New York, she started experimenting; at last she was satisfied that she had duplicated the original and passed the recipe along to us.

Our Mexican cookbooks hold similar recipes but most of them call for grating fresh coconut. We prefer to take the easy way and use the new flaked coconut, tender and delicate in flavor, that comes in handy 3½-ounce cans — each holding about one cup.

What to serve with the pudding? Here is how we put it on a menu recently.

FIRST COURSE

To begin, we chose a hearty soup. If you want a Mexican-style soup, make it of beef bones with onions, carrots, turnips and tomatoes; season it with bay leaves, garlic and chili powder. Strain after long simmering and you have caldo or stock. Ladle it over spoonfuls of hot steamed rice in big soup bowls, or add canned chick peas to it.

MAIN COURSE

For main course, we chose oven-fried chicken along with hot biscuits and salad of romaine and orange sections. To prepare the chicken we rolled pieces of a broiler-type bird in biscuit mix seasoned with salt, pepper and paprika. We melted a quarter cup of butter in a shallow baking dish and arranged the chicken in it, skin side down. We baked the chicken in a hot (425 degrees) oven until it was almost tender — about three quarters of an hour. Then we turned the chicken and finished baking it — for another fifteen minutes or so — skin side up. During the last fifteen minutes the chicken was baking, we put a pan of biscuits in the oven.

For the salad, tear the large outside leaves of romaine into small pieces; leave the little inside romaine leaves whole. Peel a couple of oranges so no white membrane remains; then cut away the pulpy sections from the dividing membranes with a small sharp knife. Mix romaine, orange sections and a good simple French dressing together just before serving.

DESSERT

And so to your ending — the coconut pudding. Serve small por-

BACHELORS BEWARE

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — This is going to be a trying year for bachelors in New Jersey, that is for those trying to stay single.

Statistics show, among other things, that 41,125 men became husbands during the last leap year, 1952.

The figures dropped to 39,744 in 1954.

MEXICAN COCONUT PUDDING

Ingredients: cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk, 2 egg yolks, 1½ cups flaked coconut, 4 to 5 drops yellow food coloring. Method: Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt together thoroughly in a saucepan. Mix in milk gradually, stirring until smooth after each addition. Place over moderate heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly; simmer 5 minutes, still stirring. Beat egg yolks until thick and ivory colored. Stir coconut mixture gradually into beaten eggs; mix well, adding food coloring. Turn into greased 8-inch heat-resistant glass pie plate. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 10 minutes, or until very lightly browned. Serve warm. Makes 6 servings.

Bomb Explodes In Chilean Home Tuesday

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A bomb exploded early Tuesday at the home of former Sen. Maria de la Cruz, a staunch admirer of ex-dictator Juan Peron.

Police said the bomb slightly damaged the home of Mrs. de la Cruz, as well as other houses in the neighborhood. No one was injured.

Mrs. de la Cruz has recently been linked to a propaganda campaign in support of the former Argentine dictator.

ASK RATE CHANGE

HARRISBURG (AP) — A proposal by Stratford Taxi Service to switch from flat to mileage rates in its Chester County operating area May 13 was before the Public Utility Commission Tuesday.

In a new rate schedule filed on Monday the firm proposed a 35-cent toll for the first half mile and 15 cents for each additional half mile, regardless of the number of passengers.

The new scheduled will provide $3,585 additional yearly revenue, the company said. Present flat rates per passenger start at 25 cents and go up in 25-cent blocks depending on distance traveled.

Helium Tycoon Produces Bulk Of Free World's Precious Gas

By TIM PARKER

AMARILLO, Tex. (P) — C. W.

Seibel of Amarillo is 65 and has spent most of his life working with stuff he can't see, smell or feel, and right now there's a terrific shortage of it.

He is assistant director of helium activities for the U. S. Bureau of Mines. He is also eligible for retirement. But he says Civil Service employees aren't automatically retired until they're 70.

The bulk of the world's helium lies under the Texas Panhandle. Helium's best-known use is in lighter-than-air craft such as blimps. No other lighter-than-air gas is available in such quantities and is nonflammable.

Other Uses Rise

Helium's other uses are growing rapidly. It's used in medicine, welding, weather balloons, diving and as a leak detector.

Seibel has had charge of producing practically all the free world's supply of helium. But at first he gave it a guffaw of sorts.

He was graduated in 1913 from the University of Kansas and was asked to write his master's thesis on one aspect of helium.

Seibel didn't like the idea. He-lithium was then looked on as a freak of chemistry and Seibel saw no way to cash in on it. But he finally presented a paper on helium before the American Chemical Society in Kansas City in 1917.

"As I finished my paper, I remarked that I was sorry it had no practical application."

Dr. R. B. Moore rose in the audience, pulled a letter from his pocket, and asked if he might read it. The letter was from Sir William Ramsay of England and asked that America produce enough helium to fill dirigibles for North Sea scout duty.

Has Ownership

Until about that time Seibel personally owned most of the world's recovered helium and had been selling it at $2,500 a cubic foot. At that rate it would cost 16 million dollars to float a dirigible like the Akron. Seibel stepped up to Dr.

CRISP, CHEWY COOKIES GET TOP RATING

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

These new cookies, sampled by a couple of dozen tasters, got top rating. Everyone who ate them asked when they were going to be baked again. And we had young and old among our testers.

Just what makes them so popular? Molasses, sugar and spice contribute tempting flavor. And the texture is both crisp and chewy—rolled oats helping out here.

We found that stored in a tightly covered tin container, these cookies held up well. But chances are they'll be eaten before you have time to find out. Youngsters will go for them with a glass of milk; older folk will enjoy them with tea or coffee.

Please do try them; it's a long time since we have come on a cookie that was such an all-round favorite. We can't promise when we'll find an oatmeal-and-molasses cookie to equal them!

You'll like the easy method of mixing these cookies—all the ingredients are beaten together in one bowl.

CRISP-AND-CHEWIES

Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon ground cloves, ½ teaspoon ground ginger, 1 cup sugar, ¼ cup butter or margarine (soft), 1 egg, ¼ cup dark molasses, ¾ cup uncooked rolled oats (quick variety).

Method: Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, cloves, ginger and sugar into a mixing bowl. Add soft shortening, egg and molasses.

Moore, a personal friend, and remarked:

"You are as crazy as you can be." "No," replied Dr. Moore. "You are young and do not have the vision."

A year and a half later 147,000 cubic feet of helium waited on the New Orleans docks for overseas shipment and Seibel was working hard to see that more was coming.

He's been at it ever since. With demand rising, the Shiprock, N. M., helium plant was reopened in 1952. A $6,000,000 project to triple the capacity of the Exell plant is about to begin. The mother plant at Amarillo is in full swing.

VFW Opposes Bonus In Bonds

HARRISBURG (P) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars, in working for a cash bonus for veterans of the Korean War, says it will oppose any move for payment of the bonus in U.S. Savings bonds.

Marlon O. Walter, Millersburg, state commander of the VFW, said a saving bond payment "would be breaking faith with our comrades who fought as tough a war as any in which the United States engaged."

Walter said the VFW is on record for a $15 a month bonus for over-seas duty and $10 a month for domestic service, the same paid to World War II veterans.

Beat until smooth — about 2 minutes. Lightly stir in rolled oats. Use a level tablespoon of the dough for each cookie; drop 2 inches apart (to allow for spreading) on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 8 to 10 minutes. Do not overbake. Allow to stand on cookie sheets a minute or so to get firm before removing with a wide spatula. Cool on rack. When cold, store in tightly covered tin container. Makes about 3½ dozen cookies.

FEEDING THOSE YOUNGSTERS

Cookies aren't the only food that appeals to all ages. We were glad to see this fact stressed in the recently published "Feeding Your Baby and Child" by Benjamin Spock, M.D., and Miriam E. Lowenberg, Ph.D. (Duell, Sloan and Pearce, New York; Little, Brown and Company, Boston). As proof of it, Dr. Lowenberg includes whole-family recipes a mother can try when a youngster has gone through the baby-feeding stage. The advantage of this system is obvious: when both Father and Toddler can eat Indian Pudding, Beef Stew or Salmon Loaf, meal-getting is simplified. Dr. Spock's collaboration with Dr. Lowenberg, an eminent dietician who has had many years of experience in planning food for children in nursery schools, is a happy one.

But recipes are only part of this book. All the details of feeding a child during infancy are gone into. Children's diet during illness is considered, and so are party menus. There is plenty of guidance for mothers of preschool children — and the advice reflects the common sense for which Dr. Spock is well known.

BRIGHT TRIPPERS TRAVEL LIGHTLY

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Travel has changed in the last 10 years. Time was when Grandma packed 10 trunks for the Grand Tour, and mortgaged the old family homestead to pay for the trip. Nowadays she travels with a capsule wardrobe in one bag and buys a package travel plan that can take her all over the world if she wishes, the cost paid later on the installment plan.

Travel and vacation clothes work on a new theory these days. Since so many people travel by air, they can't take half a dozen trunks or big wardrobe bags with them. They must be outfitted for come-what-may, from dawn to dawn, in a wardrobe that weighs no more than 40 pounds (or 60 if they are going abroad) and will fit in one suitcase. Here is where designers have proved themselves equal to the demands of the times. Their mix-and-match wardrobes, with separate tops, skirts, shorts and jackets that go together and can be switched at will, make travel shopping simple.

Seasoned trippers nowadays can take a three-month trip and be ready for anything from golf to a formal ball, living out of one suitcase. Packable, coordinated clothes, lightweight, washable, non-crushable fabrics, hats that fold up like a handkerchief and well-planned accessories have brought packing down to a science.

Among new fabric developments of the season, widely used for resort fashions, is a featherweight corduroy about half the weight of the familiar pinwale version. Another new effect is a corduroy with a bark-like texture instead of the usual rib. Both are suitable for all kinds of vacation clothes, from sport coats to slacks, and wash easily.

CREATIVE PUBLISHING

NEW YORK (P) — Harvard University's Belknap Press has been awarded the 14th annual Carey-Thomas award for creative book publishing. The work thus honored is "The Poems of Emily Dickinson."

BABY SITTING REVIEW

PUEBLO, Colo. (P) — Baby sitting got a judicial review in the court of Justice of the Peace Walter Christman.

The Rev. Jamer F. Dalton had brought suit for $30 he claimed was due his daughter, Carolyn, from baby sitters Donald Lahey. The Laheys said the girl often came late and left early.

Justice Christman lectured all concerned. He commented that a "laborer is worthy of his hire, but also has a responsibility."

The babysitter got a $10 judgment. Sponsor of the award is the book trade journal, Publishers' Weekly.

POLITICAL EYES FOCUS TODAY ON JERSEY VOTING

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (P)—The write-in vote, usually considered insignificant in most elections, will be watched with more than just a casual eye in Pennsylvania presidential preference primary April 24.

For one thing, any sizeable number of write-in votes next Tuesday could indicate dissatisfaction with the presidential candidates chosen by the state's political organizations.

Republican leaders are pushing for a big vote for President Eisenhower for re-election. Organized Democrats, including Gov. Leader, are seeking a large turnout for Adlai Stevenson.

The names of both Eisenhower and Stevenson will be printed on the ballot. So will that of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) whose name was entered when it was uncertain if the President would run again.

Can't Jump Party

In contrast to many other states, the Pennsylvania election law limits issuance of Republican ballots to Republicans only and Democratic ballots to Democrats only. Only in the case of judges, can a candidate file on both tickets.

On the Democratic side, Stevenson is the only candidate planning to appear in Pennsylvania before the primary.

State Sen. Lane (D-Washington), an original backer of Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) in the state, said he saw no signs of an organized write-in campaign for Kefauver anywhere in the commonwealth. But there were reports that councilman Victor E. Moore of Philadelphia is seeking a Kefauver write-in showing in five southeastern Pennsylvania counties.

Lausche Is Mentioned

There were indications from Monroe County that something may be done about writing in the name of Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio in opposition to Stevenson. There were no indications that such a move would become statewide.

Nothing has been done publicly about the possible candidacy of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

The lack of any announced candidate except Eisenhower is expected to reduce the write-in votes on the Republican side.

Andrew W. Green, Harrisburg attorney who led the placing of Knowland's name on the ballot, said he was not seeking any big showing for the Californian.

Top Democrats were ready to concede privately that Eisenhower would get a bigger vote than Stevenson in Pennsylvania next Tuesday for two reasons:

GOP Holds Leads
1. Although Democratic registrations are climbing and Republican registrations are dropping, the overall total still favors the Republicans, 2,683,410 to 2,238,659. That's a margin of about 445,000.

2. The Democratic voter turnout is expected to be unusually small because there are no Democratic contests at the statewide level.

That's in contrast to fights for four out of five seats among statewide GOP candidates.

Political observers, however, will look to see what votes Eisenhower gets this year compared to the 863,785 he got on the GOP ticket four years ago. That was out of about 1 1/4 million GOP votes cast.

The same contrast won't be available for Stevenson. He was little known nationally in the spring of 1952 when he received 3,745 votes. At that time, Stevenson said he didn't want the presidency. About 480,000 Democratic votes were cast in that primary.

Kefauver topped the Democrat write-ins in 1952 with 93,160 votes and former President Truman was next, with 26,504. Kefauver was a declared candidate in 1952.

Republican leaders have been urging Democrats to write in the name of President Eisenhower on the Democratic ballot, an almost unprecedented move. Some 28,000 Democrats did that on their own in 1952. But by the same token Truman got a scattering of Republican write-in votes four years ago.

Approve Proposals On Middle East Help

TEHRAN, Iran (P)—The Baghdad Pact Council Tuesday approved proposals for a study of joint development of the agricultural, mineral and water resources of the alliance's four Middle East nations—Iran, Iraq, Pakistan and Turkey.

Britain, fifth member of the alliance, has promised to contribute $700,000 for technical assistance to such a survey. The United States also has promised increased economic aid. The proposals were contained in a report of the pact's economic committee submitted Tuesday at the first working session of the council. After a closed meeting the council announced, in a two sentence communique, the report was approved unanimously.

BILL TO GOVERNOR

HARRISBURG (P)—A measure to appropriate $2,600 for purchase of two acres of land for the Danville State Hospital went to Gov. Leader today after gaining unanimous Senate approval.

The bill, passed by the Senate yesterday, would authorize the Department of Property and Supplies to buy the site.

Labor And Industry Fills Positions

HARRISBURG (P)—The Department of Labor and Industry yesterday named these persons to posts in the department:

Vincent M. Quinn, Pittston, special legal clerk, $4,260.

Voyal A. Shaw, Clearfield, junior building inspector, $3,666.

At the same time the department announced these withdrawals:

Mrs. Justina C. Onda, Pittston, compensation reporter, $3,666.

Robert R. Awkerman, Huntingdon, safety inspector, $3,270.

Anthony J. Vladovich, Alliquippa, claim adjuster, $3,862.

GLOVE TIP

WITHDRAWS NOMINATION

HARRISBURG (P)—Gov. Leader has withdrawn his nomination of Tom Ginley, Girardville, to be a trustee of Locust Mountain State Hospital, Shenandoah.

Ginley's name was submitted to the Senate on Oct. 11, 1955, for confirmation. He was to have replaced William R. Miller, Mahanoy City, who was removed from office.

The governor's office said Monday the withdrawal was made because Ginley changed his mind and now did not wish to serve.

U. N. SECRETARY IN JERUSALEM ON PEACE MOVE

By ERIC GOTTGETREU
JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli Secretary of State Moshe Sharett arrived Tuesday from Lebanon and immediately began talks with Israeli government leaders in a new stage of the Middle East peace mission.

The U. N. secretary general traveled directly from Lydda Airport outside Tel Aviv to the office of Premier David Ben-Gurion.

He was accompanied by Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett, who welcomed him at the airport. Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, Canadian chief of the U. N. armistice commission, came with Hammarskjöld from Beirut.

An afternoon meeting was expected to follow the morning conference.

His task was made tougher by Israel's demand that Egypt lift all restrictions on Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal. He was reported optimistic, however.

Border Is Quiet
Prior to leaving for Israel, he conferred in Beirut with Lebanese chiefs.

The Israeli border area was comparatively quiet. An Israeli army spokesman said the dining hall of a cement factory six miles from the Jordan border was blown up Monday night. Vehicle tracks led from Ramleh, scene of the explosion, to the Jordan border, he added.

It was the first violence reported by Israel on the frontier in two days. Egypt accused Israel of violating the Gas Strip frontier eight times over the weekend by shooting over the border and sending planes to circle the area.

Hammarskjöld worked over the weekend at his Beirut headquarters preparing for the Israeli talks. He had returned there from Cairo, where he spent five days last week conferring with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and other officials.

Obtains Pledge
During that time, he obtained pledges from Egypt and Israel to refrain from hostile acts against each other except in self-defense.

The U. N. diplomat was expected to press Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion for assurance that orders have been issued to Israeli troops to observe the cease-fire.

Hammarskjöld insisted the orders to front-line troops were a necessary preliminary to oring a binding cease-fire agreement. But Ben-Gurion stalled off giving the assurances Hammarskjöld had demanded.

Instead, Israel made a formal demand on Hammarskjöld that

Quillen, Shawnee Inn Head, Dies

SHAWNEE ON DELAWARE, Pa. (AP)—The manager of the Shawnee Inn, Richard E. Quillen, died here Monday. He had been managing Fred Waring's famed resort inn and country club for the past four years.

Quillen, 48, leaves his widow, a daughter, father and brother. Services will be held Saturday at Shawnee Presbyterian Church with burial planned for San Francisco.

Orrtanna

ORRTANNA — Twenty-seven attended the covered dish supper held at the Jefferson Hunting Lodge on Orrtanna R. D. by the Adult Bible Class of the Mt. Carmel EUB Sunday School Saturday evening. After the supper a social hour was held. Entertainment was furnished by the pastor, Rev. Roger Burtner, on the saxophone and William Howe, teacher of the class, on the banjo.

Mrs. Claude Fissel and daughter, Mrs. John Herring, and son, Rodney, visited a day the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keller and son, Max, York.

Marshall Baumgardner and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rigglesperger, Dayton, Ohio, spent the weekend with relatives here.

Mrs. Ira Walter spent Saturday in Chambersburg. Mrs. Walter spent more on a sight-seeing trip in Washington with friends from Baltimore, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baumgardner entertained Sunday Mr. and Mrs. James Ditzler and family, Tayntown, and Benton Baumgardner, Harrisburg.

Herbert Wetzel returned to Pennsylvania State University after spending the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wetzel. He accompanied Fred Diehl, also a student at the university, who spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Diehl, Cashtown.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shulley, this place, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Weaver, and son, Leonard, Gardeners R. D., visited Sunday with Stewart King and Miss Carrie King at the Stewart King home, near Tayntown. Mr. King, who suffered a paralytic stroke about two months ago, is unable to talk. Mr. King observed his sixty-eighth birthday anniversary Sunday. Mrs. Shulley is a cousin of the Kings.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shulley included

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Martz and son, George, York, and Miss Elsa Brown, Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tressler spent Saturday in York as guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thomas Jr., and son, Mark.

Miss Clara Donaldson, Philadelphia, spent Saturday with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Donaldson.

Mrs. Blanche Nordman, Waterloo, Iowa, visited Sunday with her father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Myers. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lochbaum and sons, Ronnie and Dennis, Thomasville, also spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Myers, stepfather and mother of Mrs. Lochbaum.

7 DIE IN CLASH, SOLDIERS HURT

TUNIS (AP)—Seven rebels were killed and three soldiers were wounded in a clash at Djebel Mora 30 miles northwest of Gafsa, authorities said Tuesday.

The outbreak on Monday and a spreading wave of strikes by Moslem workers on French-owned farms emphasized the problems facing Premier Habib Bourguiba in this former French protectorate.

Despite its new independence, Tunisia still is faced with the dual problems of terrorism and social unrest. Workers are pushing for shorter hours and higher wages.

To the west in Algeria, the French pressed their drive to smother the 16-month-old nationalist rebellion without any apparent success. Algerian authorities reported the cost of living at an all-time high. They blamed the rebellion.

Seventeen rebels and five other prisoners killed a guard and his wife and escaped from the Cherchell jail 60 miles west of Algiers. Six were recaptured within a few hours.

The weekend was one of the bloodiest of the rebellion. Official reports showed at least 250 persons were killed.

SEEK CONTEMPT ACTION

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee voted on Monday to recommend that the Senate institute contempt proceedings against two witnesses who recently refused to answer questions respecting alleged Communist associations.

The proposed citations, directed at Herman Lieberlight, New Orleans TV program director, and Mrs. Mary Knowles, a librarian of Plymouth Meeting, Pa., grew out of their testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Martz and son, George, York, and Miss Elsa Brown, Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tressler spent Saturday in York as guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thomas Jr., and son, Mark.

Two Bank Robbers Given Prison Terms

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two men convicted of taking part in the $19,000 holdup of the Stratford Branch of the Wayne Title and Trust Co. last October received prison sentences of 20 and 10 years on Monday.

Federal Judge Thomas J. Clary handed down sentences in the federal penitentiary of 20 years to Philip J. Howell, of Baltimore, and 10 years to John J. Andrews, of Philadelphia.

Both men face the possibility of additional prison time for Pennsylvania parole violations. Howell, an additional eight years, and Andrews, another 14 years.

A third member of the holdup gang, John Carroll of Philadelphia, convicted in a previous trial before U. S. District Judge John

Continue Officer Supply To Arabs

LONDON (AP)—Britain will continue to lend army officers to Jordan's crack Arab Legion despite the recent ouster of Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb and other high British officers, the war office announced Tuesday.

British officers will be limited to "training and technical duties," the war office said.

The decision for Britain to continue supplying officers to the British-subsidized desert army, was taken after full consultations between the British and Jordanian governments.

The arrangement will continue until Jordan has trained enough of her own officers to replace the British experts.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The Bulgarian Parliament Tuesday named Anton Yugov the new Communist premier to succeed Vulko (Wolf) Chervenkov who was accused by his associates of practicing Stalin-like one-man rule.

Yugov, 52-year-old former tobacco worker and oldest member of the Bulgarian Communist Politburo, was elected after the Parliament had accepted Chervenkov's resignation.

Reports of the action were telephoned to Belgrade from Yugoslavia.

JAMES MARLOW SAYS POLITICS IS LIKE PIANO

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Politics is like a piano. How you play it depends on how you feel. If you feel pretty confident, you can play it relaxed. That's how President Eisenhower is playing it right now. His speech last night, in effect opening his campaign for re-election, was a concentrated collection of generalities and high-sounding principles. His whole talk was about "people and principles."

That he never got specific even once about people or principles or anything else was probably the most significant point in his talk to the Republican strategy conference here.

Nice To Democrats

He was even nice to the Democrats, acknowledging they are just like Republicans in their loyalty and devotion to the nation and differ only in methods, traditions and philosophy.

Since politicians can build a whole campaign around attacks on their opponents' methods and philosophy—as Eisenhower himself did against the Democrats in 1952—he left himself plenty of room for future maneuver.

Apparently he doesn't think he has to get down to cases yet. To be able to launch a campaign on the vague plane he used last night is a kind of political luxury. It's a luxury Eisenhower can enjoy for a while, at least.

GOP Nomination Certain

He doesn't have to worry about getting the Republican nomination. He has it sewed up. And not until their August convention will the Democrats pick a candidate to throw against him.

All Eisenhower sees in front of him now are two Democrats—Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver—battling each other around the country for their party's nomination.

After the conventions Eisenhower may have to get rough, talk on the issues, be specific, and make promises. Perhaps even then he won't feel he has to do much of that. He already has said that because of his heart condition he won't go stumping the country.

FDR Had Advantage

He may do what President Roosevelt did to Republican Thomas E. Dewey in 1944: try to brush off the opposing candidate with a few relaxed speeches, depending for victory on public devotion and appreciation.

It will be unusual if he gets by as easily as Roosevelt did. Roosevelt had one thing in his political favor which Eisenhower lacks: there was a war and a great public reluctance for change right then.

EVALUATE BODY WORKS FOR FAIR MARKET PRICE

WASHINGTON (P)—A new appraisal of the government-owned Mifflinburg, Pa., body works will be made this week, Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.) has been told.

Simpson said he was assured by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Laurence B. Robbins that an appraiser will go to Mifflinburg this week in an effort to arrive at a fair market price for the idle property.

Residents of the community and nearby areas—impatient over continued idleness of the plant and resultant lack of employment—have been showering telegrams upon treasury and Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC) officials and Pennsylvania congressmen in an effort to speed action.

Latest Bid, $125,000
The years-long stalemate over the property—acquired by the government when the RFC foreclosed on a mortgage—is over a contention by the RFC that the building is worth $200,000 and an equally vigorous contention by bidders that the property isn't worth that much. The latest bid, by Wood Metal Products Co., a central Pennsylvania concern, is $125,000.

Simpson said that if the government turns down the latest bid he is hopeful of bringing about a compromise agreement somewhere between the bid and asked prices.

Sen. Martin (R-Pa.), meanwhile, urged Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey to look into the situation personally. He emphasized in a letter that the government should be concerned over the economic welfare of the community. He said too that the government would benefit by accepting a lower price because it would put an end to government maintenance costs and bring in taxes.

Duff Comments
That, he said, would be far better than the government insisting upon a price that no one is willing to pay.
Sen. Duff (R-Pa.) also reiterated to treasury and RFC officials his contentions that every effort should be made to dispose of the property to that it can become productive again.

COLE CANCELS ATLANTA JOB

ATLANTA (P)—Singer Nat King Cole has canceled an Atlanta appearance, telling promoter B. B. Beamon he would not appear here "for a million dollars."

Beamon announced the cancellation of Tuesday's performance after talking with the Negro singer Monday night in Winston-Salem, N. C. He said Cole told him he was "afraid to come to Atlanta." The promoter said he relayed to Cole the assurance of Atlanta Police Chief Herbert Jenkins that there would be adequate protection during Cole's entire visit.

Protection Not The Issue
Beamon quoted Cole as saying, "It's not a matter of police protection. Someone might try it again, even with a hundred policemen on hand."

The Negro ballad singer was attacked by six white men on the stage of a Birmingham, Ala., theater April 7. He was knocked down but not seriously hurt. The six men are being tried on charges growing out of the attack. Beamon said he understood the rest of the Cole troupe were en route to Atlanta Tuesday. He added that the show would go on without Cole and refunds would be made to those wanting them.

Describe 'Powerful' Slayer Of Widow

PHILADELPHIA (P)—The murderer of wealthy Mrs. Lulubel Rossman was a "rather powerful" man who weighed about 200 pounds and could wear a size 8 or 8½ surgical glove, a city pathologist testified on Monday as the trial of Raymond P. Wilson entered its second week.

The 33-year old ex-convict from Tulsa, Okla., weighs about 145. He and three others, who are attending the sessions but will be tried later, are accused of plotting the robbery murder of the 76-year-old woman in her midcity hotel last July.

Dr. Frank Glauser, who performed the autopsy on Mrs. Rossman, told the court the powerful man held his hand over her eyes

Drive-in Theaters Get Property Grace

PHILADELPHIA (P)—The State Supreme Court has ruled that the owner of a drive-in theater does not have to cut off one acre of his property because it extends into and nose with "terrific pressure" until death.

a residential zone.
Robert Baronoff, owner of the theater near Morrisville, Pa., appealed to the high court when the Bucks County Common Pleas Court refused his appeal for a variance.

The Makefield Twp. board of adjustment refused to grant Baronoff a variance in its residential classification.
The high court ruled on Monday that the zoning violated Baronoff's constitutional rights under the 14th amendment. The zoning would unlawfully deprive him of property without compensation, the court said.
